THE NINETEEN THIRTY NINE DACOTAH

The University of North Dakota

AT GRAND FORKS, NORTH DAKOTA

To all those students, who wearing cap and gown, have received their degree from the University of North Dakota, we dedicate this 1939 Dacotah.

To that first small group of graduates, who half a century ago doffed their caps and gowns, to take their places in the struggle against the vicissitudes of a pioneer era;

To all that long line of graduates who have followed them, each class in its succeeding year, contributing to the noble traditions of this University and building a heritage for graduates to come;

To the graduates of today who step forth into an unsettled world confident through that heritage of courage and friendliness that is theirs;

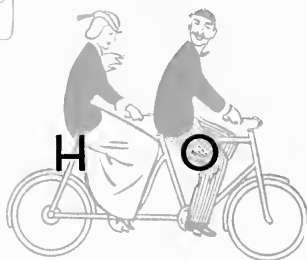

To the graduates of tomorrow upon whom rests the duty of carrying on all that is fine and worthwhile in the traditions handed down to them and who will go forth to find their rightful places under the sun.

Governor Moses

HUSKY, bushy-browed John Moses, six-foot-four governor of North Dakota, graduated from the University in 1913.

Entirely self-supporting while at school, Governor Moses graduated with a B. A., and in 1915 received a J. D. degree (given for excellency in legal scholarship). Although he worked three hours a day on a downtown bookkeeping job, in addition to being business manager of the Dakota Student, he was socially active.

A Sigma Nu, John Moses was also a member of Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, secretary of the Interfraternity council, manager of the track team, secretary of the Athletic Board of Control, and a debater of no small merit.

Governor Moses recently wrote of his years at the University, "I never had a better time—made many fine friends and kept most of them—worked harder than I ever have before or since, accomplished something, and was only $200 worse off when I left college than I was when I entered."

Board of Higher Education

IN APPROVING a constitutional amendment June 28, 1938, the electors of North Dakota established a State Board of Higher Education, and transferred all powers dealing with educational institutions from the Board of Administration to the newly-created board.

Under the approved act, 21 names are submitted to the governor by the president of the North Dakota Educational Association, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction. From this list the governor appoints seven members to the Board of Higher Education with the consent of the senate, their terms to be rotating.

July 1, 1939, the new board will be officially installed, and the Board of Administration's supervisory powers from that time will be limited to charitable and penal institutions..

From among its members the Board of Higher Education will elect a president and a secretary. The board will also appoint a State Commissioner of Higher Education, who will serve a term of three years, acting as chief executive of the board.

Due to the fact that these appointments were made just before the Dacotah went to press, we were unable to include a picture.

A Message from President West

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA was established in 1883 and functioned for six years as a territorial university. The diplomas received by the first class were issued during the last year of territorial days, fifty years ago. This DACOTAH pays tribute not only to the class of 1939, but to the long line of graduates—thousands in number—who have been honored by the University at commencement seasons during this half century. They have cast honor and distinction on their Alma Mater in every walk of life, in this state, in our nation, and in practically every foreign country.

Measured by the standards of the Great Teacher as expressed in — “By your fruits, ye shall know them,” North Dakota’s star has been in the ascendency throughout this entire period. As the fiftieth class passes by in academic procession on their way to receive their degrees and to carry on a life of service as University graduates, let us pause and salute those other groups, who have gone before and who have exemplified in their lives of service, the motto of the University — “Lux et Lex,” — Light and Law.

The DACOTAH of 1939 links the achievements of the past to a hope and a determination that the achievements of the future justify in full measure the promise of the past. — By JOHN C. WEST, president.

Administration Committee

SUPREME governing body at the University is the Administrative committee. Headed by President West, the group considers matters of a highly controversial nature, graduation requirements, additions to University catalog, and all matters affecting the policy of the school.

The law of the Administrative committee is the law of the University. Its decisions may be overruled only by the State Board of Administration.

Committee members are John C. West, University president; William G. Bek, dean of the College of Science, Literature and Arts; J. V. Breitwieser, dean of the School of Education; Harley E. French, dean of the School of Medicine; Alice M. Hanson, dean of women; L. C. Harrington, dean of the College of Engineering; O. H. Thormodsgard, dean of the School of Law; E. T. Towne, dean of the School of Commerce; Alfred Boyd, John L. Hundley, C. W. Telford and George C. Wheeler, faculty members at large. R. B. Witmer, freshman adviser, and W. E. Budge, freshman engineers' adviser, are non-voting members. R. O. Wilson, registrar, serves as non-voting secretary of the committee.

DEAN ALICE HANSON

PROBABLY the most interesting office on the campus is held by Alice Hanson, Dean of Women. It is her job to advise and counsel the students, both men and women.

"The individual student's opinions are of paramount importance to this office," Dean Hanson has said. Too, she wants to keep the "lock-step" out of education. And she is succeeding.

It is a natural service that is rendered by the Dean of Women's office because it is rendered in time of need — and there is nothing definite about that time of need. On a busy day the Dean may see 50 students, most of them coming on their own volition. Each day brings new problems to solve, new advice to be given.

Some of her standardized duties are: keeping daily attendance records, filling the University's social calendar, serving as chairman of the Student Affairs committee, and nominating members for the Student Board of Publications, in addition to serving on numerous other committees. She might also be called the advisory link between the University and the fraternities and sororities.

Dean Hanson joined the faculty in 1938, succeeding Beatrice M. Olson. She received her B. A. degree from the University of Minnesota, and her M. A. from Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City.

College of Science, Literature and Arts

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS, now the College of Science, Literature and Arts, in 1884 was the main department of the infant University of North Dakota.

Dr. William Blackburn, the first president, served as professor of metaphysics. Henry Montgomery taught natural sciences, Webster Merrifield taught Greek and Latin, and Mrs. E. H. Scott was instructor in mathematics and English. These four faculty members served the seventy-nine students that made up the University's total enrollment. This was the beginning of the College of Science, Literature and Arts and, indeed, of the entire University.

Pre-requisites in law, commerce, dentistry and medicine are taught, as the student who enters one of these fields must complete two years in Science, Literature and Arts.

The school grants three undergraduate degrees — Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Philosophy. A Master's degree in Arts or Science is granted upon the graduate's completion of a satisfactory year's work.

Dean William G. Bek, head of the college, received his B. A. degree and his M. A. from the University of Missouri. The University of Pennsylvania granted him his Ph.D. Dean Bek succeeded Dean Vernon Squires, veteran faculty member, in 1930.

DEAN E. T. TOWNE

School of Commerce

Dean of the school since its foundation as a separate unit in 1925 has been E. T. Towne, who is also the author of several widely used text books on economics. Dean Towne graduated from State Normal at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, received a B. L. degree from the University of Wisconsin, and did graduate work at the New York School of Philanthropy and the University of Wisconsin. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Halle, Germany. His fraternities are Phi Beta Kappa, scholarship, and Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce.

THERE was a time when the nation's future business men, large and small, received their commercial training in the form of an apprenticeship behind the corner store's cracker barrel and on the seat of a delivery bicycle. But times have changed, and with the cracker barrel has gone this type of business preparation.

For years the doctors, lawyers and engineers have had compulsory higher education, and today the insurance or business man is just as much in need of a college education as is the professional man.

The University's Commerce School prepares the student for general business, accounting, banking and finance, insurance, merchandising, public administration, consular service, foreign trade and the teaching of commercial subjects.

School of Education

MORE and more "little red school houses," once the symbol of the prairie states, are disappearing from North Dakota. They are being replaced by both consolidated and single school systems. The teachers have changed, too. It is no longer possible for a high school graduate to enter the teaching field.

Largely responsible for these changes have been the teachers colleges at Minot, Mayville, Dickinson and Valley City. But the pioneer in

DEAN J. V. BREITWIESER

North Dakota was the School of Education at the University, which was established in the school's charter in 1883.

Graduates of the school today receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Education, and the Bachelor's Diploma in Teaching. This diploma is accredited by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and is a first grade professional certificate in this state.

The public high school, through an arrangement with the city of Grand Forks, serves as a laboratory for the department of education, affording an excellent chance for practice and observation.

J. V. Breitwieser, dean of the school, is also director of the graduate division and the summer session. Dean Breitwieser, known for his work in educational psychology, has been with the University since 1927.

DEAN H. E. FRENCH

School of Medicine

Every year, however, more than twice the number that can be accommodated apply for admission.

The school has a faculty of twelve, headed by Dean H. E. French. Born at Delhi, Indiana, Dean French has been head of the School of Medicine since 1911. He received his A. B. at Washington State college, his M. S. from the University of Chicago, and his M. D. from Northwestern.

TO RELIEVE the suffering of man, whether in a spiritual or physical way, is one of the highest of the professional callings. Probably the two best friends of a community are its doctor and its minister.

North Dakota, a rural state, has many a town and village that has no physician. Families in countless small towns must rely in time of need on a doctor who lives in a neighboring city, miles distant.

Since 1905 the University has been striving to fill this need for doctors. Although the school does not grant an M. D. degree, it does offer the first two laboratory years of the complete medical course. To complete their training and to receive their M. D. degrees, students must go to medical schools in clinical centers.

School of Law

DEMOCRACY'S FORT is the School of Law. Words made timely by the European crises of today were written for the 1937 Dacotah by Dean O. H. Thormodsgard. They bear repeating.

"In an autocracy or dictatorship the need for lawyers is limited. In a representative form of government, however, democracy cannot survive without lawyers, for the spirit of a free republic is law. The object of this law is to secure liberty for the individual and at the same time to control it, to give security and equal rights to all. Under a representative government, the individual should be protected against uncontrolled discretion on the part of government officials; he should have the right to be tried before independent judges and unbiased jurors; and he should have the opportunity to secure the counsel of trained men in law... An orderly government cannot exist without this reign."

This, wrote Dean Thormodsgard, is the function of the law school — to train those men and women whose work it is to protect the individual in his personal and civil rights.

A member of the Association of American Law Schools, the University Law School is also approved by the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association.

DEAN L. C. HARRINGTON

College of Engineering

Today the University of North Dakota grants seven Bachelor of Science degrees in engineering: mining, civil, electrical, mechanical, chemical, ceramic and engineering.

Dean of the school is L. C. Harrington, with the University since 1931. He received a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering and a Mechanical Engineering degree from the University of Michigan.

TRANSPORTATION and communication, those magic words of modernity, are calling to the college men of today. Aviation, radio and television, however, are only a small part of that extensive field, engineering.

The engineer! In college life he is the chamois-jacketed, corduroyed youth who has one of the toughest of study schedules. He is, and has to be, an exceptionally hard-working student. But when he leaves school he becomes a modern Merlin. He spans wide bays with mighty bridges, he dams the surging rivers, he brings electricity across states and into homes, he lays the highways and pushes skyscrapers above the cities, he purifies the water, he constructs the engine, he builds the planes that fly the oceans. Boulder Dam, the Clippers, the Empire State building — all are products of the engineer.

Wesley College

PRESIDENT C. L. WALLACE

UNIQUE in educational history as the pioneer example of an affiliation of church school and tax-supported institution, Wesley College was linked with the University in 1905. President Robertson in that year drew up the famous "Memorandum" with President Merrifield.

Red River Valley University, in accordance with the plan, was moved from Wahpeton, N. Dak., to Grand Forks, and its name changed to Wesley College. Provisions were made for an interchange of credits and students. This agreement has operated successfully to this day.

President of Wesley is C. L. Wallace, heading a faculty of eighteen. He and his staff maintain the School of Religion, the Conservatory of Music, the Department of Speech and two dormitories.

Students may receive a Bachelor's or a Master's degree from the School of Religion, in addition to the degree of Bachelor of Music.

R. O. WILSON

R. O. Wilson's experience at Northwestern, Montana, and South Dakota equipped him well for his position as registrar and secretary of the faculty, which he accepted in 1927. Working under Wilson is Miss Ruby M. McKenzie, assistant registrar.

First librarian of the University was Professor Merrifield, later president of the school. In 1888 the library was a small one, located on the second floor of Old Main. Today Miss Della Mathys has charge of the 120,000 volumes that comprise the University library.

DELLA MATHYS

A member of the faculty since 1903, J. W. Wilkerson took the newly-created position of business manager in 1906. He had been ssistant to the registrar. Wilkerson, a C. P. A., is in charge of all financial transactions of the school, including student loans and accounts. He is assisted by Miss Eleonore Skon, cashier and office manager.

J. W. WILKERSON

Executives

As superintendent of building and grounds, E. G. Felt is responsible for the University campus' reputation as a beauty spot in spring and summer. Felt's large staff maintains the buildings, golf course, football stadium and grounds, in addition to all the campus roads. His chief assistant is Mrs. Velma Norton, who also directs the University telephone exchange.

More than 800 students in seventeen states receive their education through the Division of Correspondence Study. Students in 51 of the 53 North Dakota counties study under the direction of Miss M. Beatrice Johnstone, division director.

J. V. Breitwieser, dean of the School of Education, organized the Graduate Division of the University in its present form. The school confers seven master's and doctor's degrees upon graduate students. The program of this division meets the standards set forth by the American Association of Universities.

Student Employment

A TRIBUTE was paid the Student Employment bureau at the 1938 commencement exercises. Of the graduates, one-third had received federal aid at some time during their college lives. And of the 69 honors listed, 34 (approximately one-half) were awarded to students who had received federal aid.

National Youth Administration students have consistently been above the University scholarship average. Another interesting fact is that the last two Rhodes scholarship winners have been students who received NYA assistance.

The Student Employment bureau is headed by Mabel S. Davies, who is also NYA director. An important division of the bureau is directed by Dale Nordquist, Director of Downtown Employment.

In addition to the 220 students on the NYA roles, 190 hold downtown jobs. Camp Depression houses 38 boys who work for their room.

Student Affairs

PROBLEMS and decisions concerning campus activities and organizations are the business of the Student Affairs committee. A representative body, both students and faculty members have a voice.

Four faculty members are appointed by the President of the University, and three students are named by the presidents of representative campus organizations, the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council and the Independent organization.

Present members of the committee are Dean Alice M. Hanson, chairman; Frank J. Webb, Prof. R. H. Eaton, Prof. Sewell Mason, and Prof. Alfred Boyd, faculty representatives; Don Roney, Interfraternity Council; Peggy Foss, Panhellenic Council; and Dale Nordquist, Independent students.

Questions of a highly controversial nature that come before the committee may be appealed to the Administrative committee. Topics affecting University policy or concerning the school in general are often referred to the Administrative committee for its consideration.

Permanent chairman of Student Affairs is the Dean of Women.

Official Duties

BETTER ORGANIZATION was the keynote which marked the activities of all four classes at the University this year. Throughout the divisions there seemed to be a stronger tendency toward cooperation, both within and between classes, than there has been in previous years.

This point was most strongly emphasized in the union of the two upper classes to give to the students a "bigger and better" junior-senior prom. In other years, two spring proms were held, with rather unsatisfactory results. This spring, with the combination of the two classes, it was possible to contract a larger band to play for the prom. This marked the first time in seven years that a "big name" band had played for a University dance.

Sophomores gained recognition this year by sponsoring an all-campus informal in March. Called the Silo Stomp, the party stressed informality in contrast to the spring formal season. Planned as an annual affair, the Stomp gives students who feel proms are too expensive an opportunity to attend one all-campus spring party.

Juniors made a clean sweep of Carney this year. The class won first prize at the annual February song fest, and Grant Herreid, junior choreagus, received the award for the best original song.

Frosh Week early in May, gave the freshman class a chance to prove their existence on the campus. The week was a new idea, conceived by this year's class council. The week combined freshman honors and activities. Two banquets were held at which honors were given to outstanding first-year students. Activities for the week centered about a hobnob and a night at the Varsity club devoted to the freshmen..

Top to bottom: Senior class officers McLellan, McCosh, King and Walsh step gaily off. Svare chats with three coeds who head the junior class — Fursteneau, Oppegard and Rodger. Sophomores Johnson, Dragge, Allen and Coghlan plan the Sophomore Stomp. Frosh council meets to plan "Freshman Week." Seated are Bakke, Brainard, Heen, Hage. Standing, Heen, Ness, Staley.

Lawyers McLellan and Nordquist leave the campus for a Roman holiday a la Kleveland Grocery. That "robot" is George Vaughan, engineer in disguise, caught by the camera. Birdeen Gibson, student and painter, with a self portrait and some of her other work. It's filling the kiln in the ceramics department for this student, and learning housewifely duties for "Barb" Norman pictured in the practise house kitchen. Anna Peterson, only woman engineer, in action, followed by the memorable "Kaptain and the Kid." Registration daze (a la Timm). A working day for journalists Dill, Auerbach, Timm and Asleson (Herald office). A Camp Depression bull session. Tommy Kleveland — he forsook the Dacotah for this.

Tommy McGrath, University Rhodes Scholar

McGrath and Glyer, runner-up,
after examination

Rhodes Scholar

THIS FALL Tommy McGrath of Sheldon will board a liner from New York to England to be the tenth University Rhodes scholar to study at Oxford since Henry Hinds went across the water in 1904.

McGrath was elected this year's scholar last fall after a series of examinations here, at Fargo and in Washington, where the regional finals were held.

Interested in literature, Tommy expects to spend his time at Oxford continuing his studies of English literature. When he has finished his two-year course there he will either teach, enter the journalism profession or devote his time to writing.

During his studies at the University, McGrath has written several poems and short sketches of prose. Last year he had one of his poems published in an anthology of verse, "Best Poems of 1937." Thomas Moulton, an Englishman, edited the volume. The activities in which McGrath was interested at the University include an active part in Quill club, a campus literary organization. He was president of the group and contributed to the club's annual publication, The Shaft, which is a collection of literary works contributed by the college students. McGrath is also a member of the American Student union.

He will join Leigh Gerdin in Oxford in the fall. Gerdin was sent from the University as last year's Rhodes scholar, and he is finishing his work in music composition there.

Beverly Bushaw

Smiling her way through numerous campus activities, Bev has presided at all Y. W. C. A. and Delta Phi Delta meetings, headed her social sorority, Tri-Delta. Her major is art, with minors in industrial arts and ceramics.

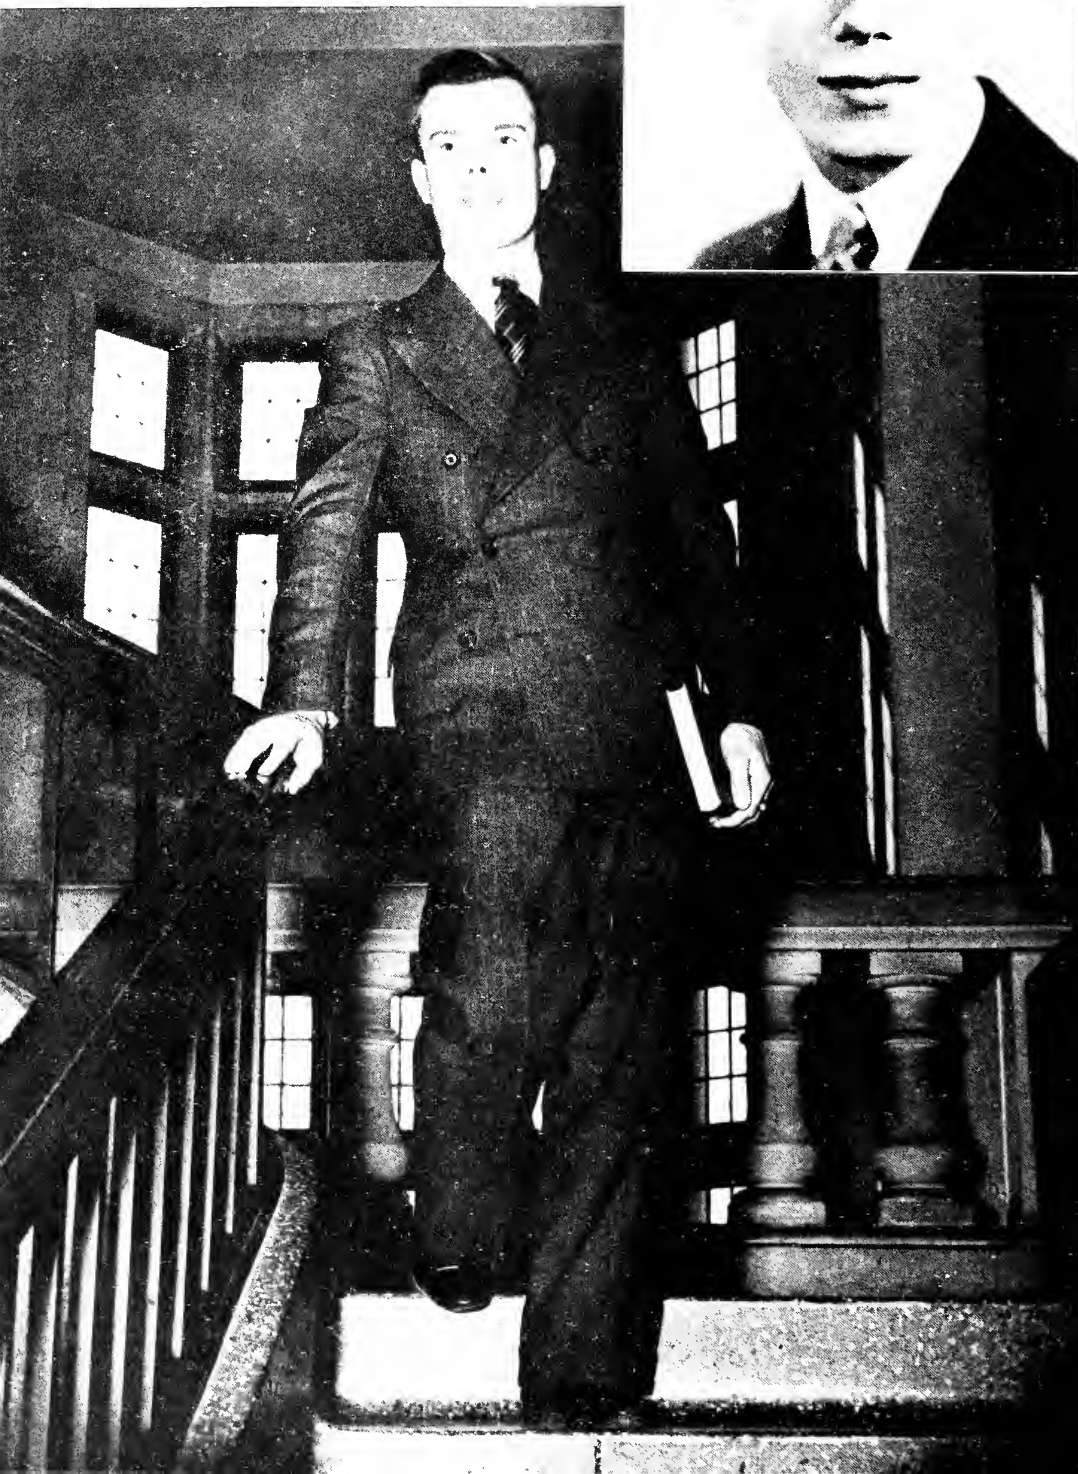

Fritz Pollard

Sioux football star, All-Conference halfback, Olympic hurdler and Nodak track star is Fritz Pollard, athletic wonder who came to the University from Chicago. Blue Key honored him this fall for his service to the school. Fritz will graduate with a major in physical education.

James Glyer

Jim has lined up such honors as Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, Blue Key, and Grey Gown marshal behind his name. He has acted as executive secretary for the Y. M. C. A. the past year, and has taken part in debate and speech contests. Alpha Tau Omega is his fraternity; his major, social science.

Peggy Foss

Blonde and vivacious, Peg has been president of Mortar Board for the past year. She is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, is a past Homecoming queen, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority. Her major is home economics; her minor, journalism.

Stanley Walsh

A freshman in the Law school, Stan has also put in many hours directing Blue Key and Alpha Tau Omega, both groups of which he is president. He is an honorary member of Cavaliers, a member of a hobnob committee of three, secretary of the Senior class and business manager of the 1939 Dacotah.

Jean Hoagland

With a journalism major, Jean's activities are found principally in this field. She is editor of the 1939 Dacotah, a past associate editor of the Student and president of Matrix. She was elected to Grey Gown as a junior, served as Y. W. C. A. Big Sister chairman this fall.

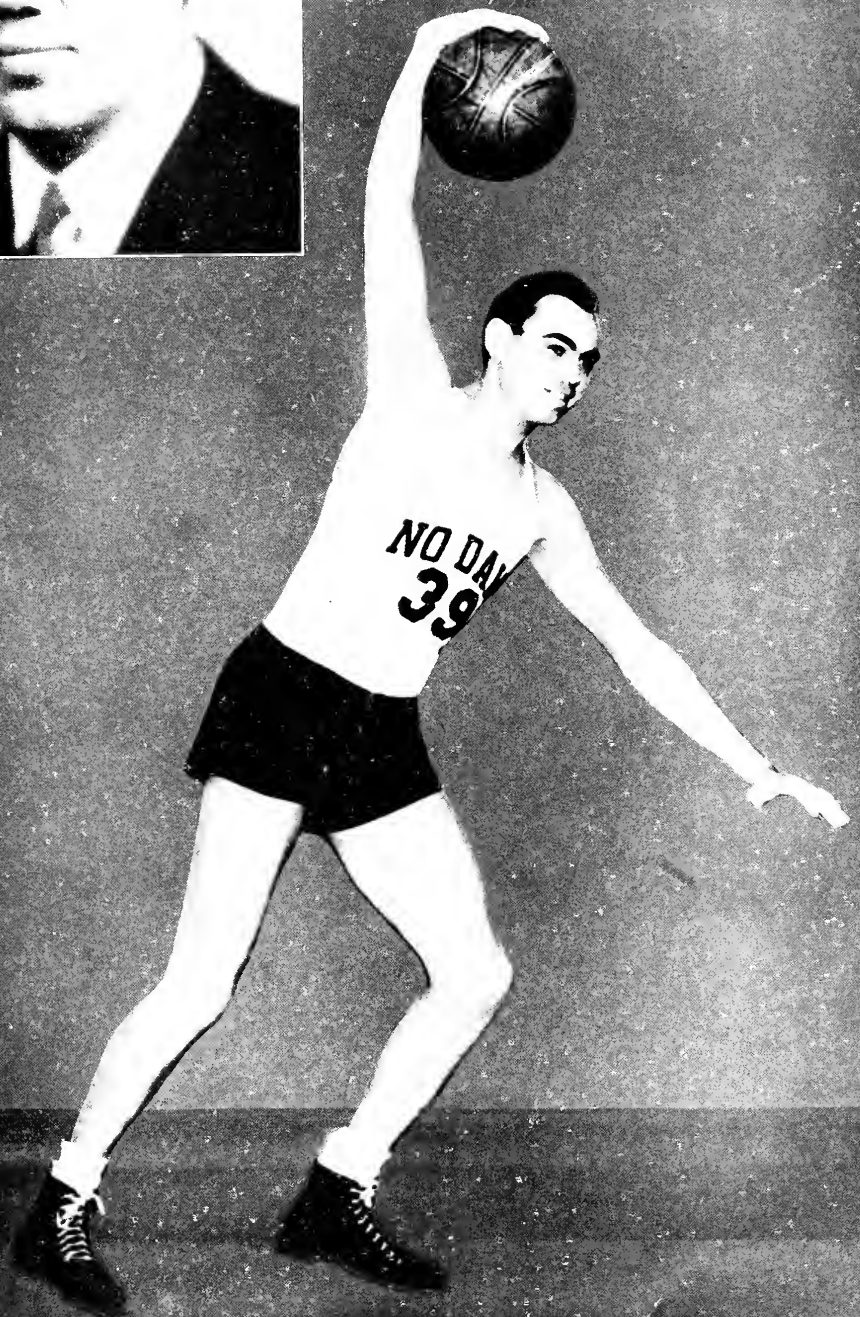

Elbert Timm

As editor of the campus newspaper, Bert has had a big job on his hands. He is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, Blue Key and Sigma Delta Chi. Graduating from the U in June, Bert will be granted a double major in journalism and geology.

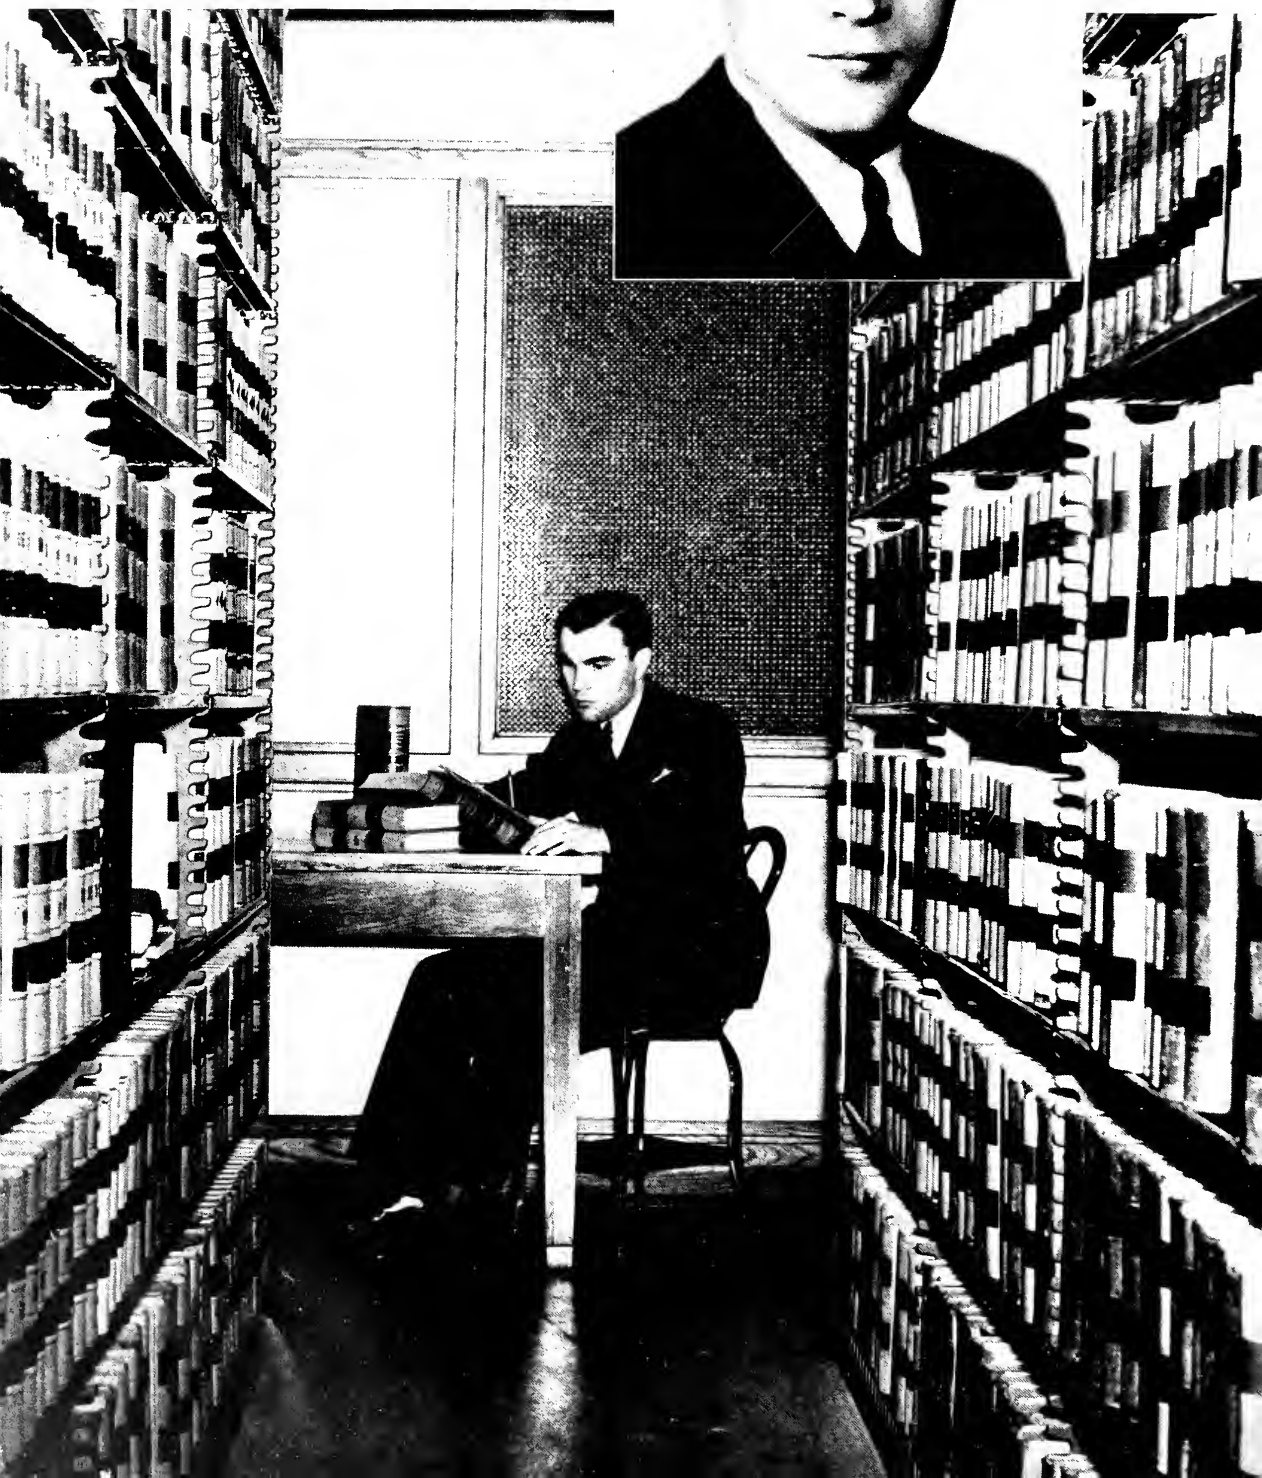

Bill McCosh

As co-captain of the varsity basketball squad, Bill has made a permanent berth for himself in the history of Nodak athletics. He was appointed Homecoming chairman this fall and was chosen as president of the senior class. Bill is a member of Blue Key, Sigma Chi social fraternity and is majoring in chemistry.

Don Roney

A junior lawyer. Don has quietly taken care of many of the foremost men's organizations at some time during his college career. He is a past president of Alpha Tau Omega, Blue Key and the Interfraternity council, and a member of the select Iron Mask.

Cross Section of the Day

The Chi O's were right for the Sioux did take the Grizzlies as the look on Homecoming Queen LeNore Ulvedahl will testify. The Beta house decorations, the Tri-Delt and Gamma Phi floats are three of the day's prize winners. The three principal characters of the day, overshadowed by C. A. West, who was honored for his ten years' service. The homecoming queen and her two attendants in the Sioux canoe, with the stadium all ready for the big moment. Sioux cheerleaders on parade, followed by C. A. receiving the scroll of recognition. Gamma Phi Beta's winning house decoration.

LeNore Ulvedahl, Homecoming Queen, smiles a Sioux smile

THE BEAR didn't get over the mountain. No sir — the Montana Grizzlies were pushed off the hill as the Sioux defeated them 7-0 in the climax event of the twenty-third annual Homecoming.

Festivities, under the direction of Alumni Chairman Frank J. Webb and Student Chairman Bill McCosh, began Thursday night, October 20, with a big pep rally in the armory. Mayor J. Earl McFadden gave the main address of the evening. Friday night a student rally, snake dance and bonfire was held. The annual alumni banquet with Paul Griffith presiding was held in the Dacotah hotel. Later in the evening, house decorations were inspected. Gamma Phi Beta and Beta Theta Pi won first prizes, with Chi Omega and Alpha Tau Omega taking second places.

Gamma Phi Beta and Theta Chi won first prizes in the float competition in the parade Saturday morning, while Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Tau Omega took second places.

LeNore Ulvedahl was crowned the sixth homecoming queen of the civilized Sioux by Governor Langer between halves of the game. Coach C. A. West received recognition for his ten years of service as Sioux mentor, and the four team captains, West, Gainor, McCosh and Pepke, were honored at the same time.

Russell Asleson, 1939 Follies chairman

FOLLIES!!!

Aching heads and tired feet—wearied bodies and sleepy minds. But exultant hearts for those who won and a deep sense of satisfaction for those who lost.

Every year, after months of hard practice, fraternities and sororities present the best of their singing, dancing and acting talent in the ever-entertaining Flickertail Follies. And every year the public returns home satisfied with having seen a fine show of the tops in ability at the University.

The Follies represent the result of intra-chapter cooperation and inter-Greek competition—the biggest entertainment event of the year.

Russell Asleson directed the 1939 edition of the Follies, while Professors G. Bjorn Bjornson and John E. Howard acted as faculty directors for the production.

The 1939 Follies proved to be the "tops" in entertainment as twelve fine acts were presented. Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta's "Swiss Chalet" number won first prize in the combined act division of the show. Delta Gamma's "Woman in the Shoe" made a hit with the audience and topped the long sorority act competition. The long fraternity act prize was taken by the Phi Delta Theta's "Follies of '01," while in the short act division, "The Monk's Supper" by Kappa Sigma won top honors.

Tri-Delts put on their broadest smiles as the Follies date draws nearer

The S. A. E. band swings into action with opening night closer

Follies

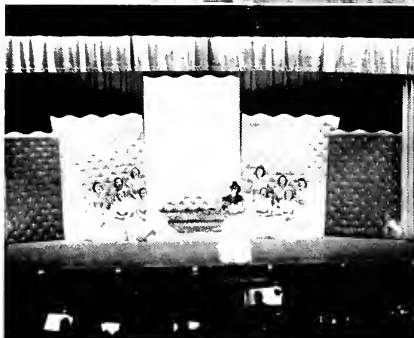

"Opening Night"

Pictures come to life in Alpha Phi's "Rain on the Roof" fantasy. That canvas really turns on the smiles. Tri delts come truckin' on down through their "swing trial."

Zeet Bacheller makes "My Man" fairly sizzle against a background of D. G. choristers. Bad luck to open an umbrella indoors, but it's "Rain on the Roof" again. Finlay, Saylor, Sarles, and company trying to smile those clouds away.

The Sig "Butcher Shop." Porky Rorvig's feet steal the picture in a scene from their hospital act. Lambda Chi capitalizes on the depression to costume their boys for the "School of Foo-ology."

Page Jack Benny — he must be doing the "Flight of the Bumble Bee." Those eyes, that hair, that fiddle — Lambda Chi's Stolberg saws one out. The A. T. O.'s quartet goes to town on "Sweet Adeline" just before Augustine makes history in a bar room scene.

The seniors sing their last song as Elmer Anderson, choregus, puts on the quietus. It's an old story for Sophomore Choregus Bob Kerns—he also directed his class last year. Grant Herreid, junior choregus, receives the check for his original song—a bit enthusiastically, too. The winners in action. Peter Haug, frosh director, does his best with the white-shirted frosh.

Carney

FOR the twenty-ninth year the presiding officer faced a barrage of hoots and howls, wise cracks and cheers as he opened the annual Carney sing contest.

Founded in 1911 by E. Claude Carney for the purpose of intensifying class spirit and school co-operation, the sing has become a school tradition, full of color, noise and entertainment. Each year competition is keen as the classes compete for "that fifty bucks," the prize offered by Mr. Carney. Each class sings Alma Mater and four original songs composed by members of its class. Judging is based on interpretation and choral effect of the songs.

The Junior class, led by Grant Herreid, got the nod from Judges R. S. Dunham, T. W. Thorson and Robert Walls and walked off with first prize. Herreid also copped the prize for the best original song with his "Sioux Heritage."

Choregi for the three classes were Elmer Anderson, seniors; Robert Kerns, sophomores; and Peter Haug, freshmen. Paul B. Griffith, '08, president of the alumni association, presided at the sing and had trouble getting a word in edgewise as the singers stomped and shouted.

At Convocation

FROM glass blowing to religion, from foreign relations to Indian dancing, the regular all-University convocations vary over the greatest fields of educational and entertaining subjects conceivable.

Educational leaders consider this method of instruction to be about the best possible for the broadening of one's general knowledge. Here at the University, convocations form a regular part of a student's instruction. At periods when "convos" are scheduled, all classes are dismissed to enable the whole student body to attend.

Various campus organizations are allowed to sponsor speakers to present subjects in which they are interested. Some of the speakers at convos this year were: H. N. Wheeler, a United States forester; former Governor Langer; Reverend Rutledge Beale of the People's Church of St. Paul, Minnesota; Ralph Montonna of the University of Minnesota faculty; Reverend H. R. Harrington of Grand Forks; Mercer McLeod, radio dramatist from Winnipeg; Gerhard Schacher, Prague correspondent; R. A. Trubey, member of the state board of education; Frank McVey, president of University of Kentucky; Reverend W. W. Strahle of Minot; Jack McMichael, YM student from China; Dr. Norbert Hoff of the University of Notre Dame; and Judge Grimson, of Rugby.

Convocations hold much interest for the faculty and students of the University. Mr. Gillette, Dr. Frank McVey, former president of the University, and Dean Bek talk over old times.

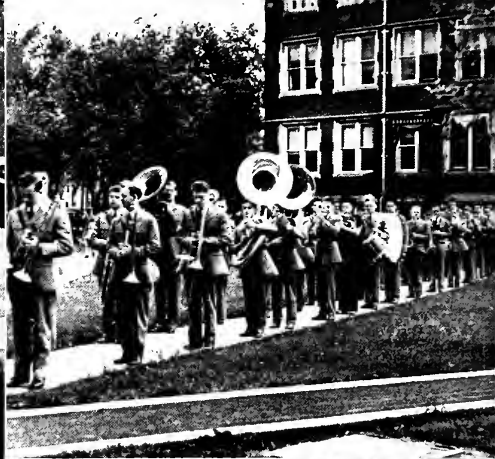

Merton Swenson, president of the University band, receives recognition from John Howard, director of the band. President West and President Eversull of the A. C. participated in the Honors Day convocation.

The Madrigal club is a frequent entertainer at the University convocations.

Those people who have served the University for twenty-five years were honored at the Founder's Day convocation at which R. A. Trubey of Fargo was the speaker.

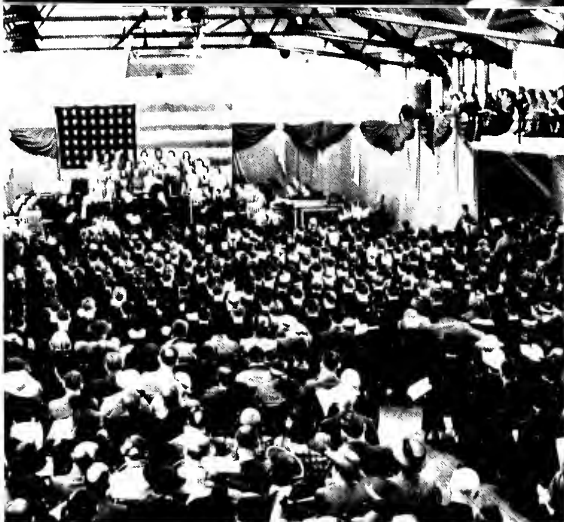

Seniors line up for the academic procession. The band tunes up for their part in the ceremony.

The faculty members pass through the line. The Grey Gown marshal leads the procession.

The Glee club furnishes the music at the exercises. Faculty members proceed to the Armory.

FIFTY years ago six students received their diplomas from the University of North Dakota, then a small struggling school on the prairie.

On June 7, the fiftieth graduating class, numbering 260, will pass the portals of their University for the last time.

Dr. Cora Smith King, now practicing medicine in Hollywood, and Dr. Frances Shaw of East Lansing, Michigan, are the only survivors of that class.

Deceased members are Clinton DeGroat, Mrs. C. S. Emery and Ben Inwaldson.

Graduation

GRADUATION!

End of college days—and the beginning of—, Thundred and sixty-two students will leave their Alma Mater on June 7, as the fiftieth graduating class receives its degrees.

Royalty will head the commencement procession—Crown Prince Olav of Norway, heir to the crown, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University, and will deliver the commencement address.

As has been the tradition, the Grey Gowns will act as ushers at the exercises. Those elected as Grey Gowns this year are: Tracy Barber, Russell Asleson, Edwin Simpson, Cheryl Rodger, Helen Oppegard, Rebecca Onstad, Robert Rovelstad, Adelaide Hanson, Ann Kittel, Merle Lovell, Ormiston Kermott and Marvin Lommen.

Commencement exercises begin Sunday, June 4, with the University Baccalaureate service. June 6 has been declared Alumni and Parents Day. The graduating class of 1889 will receive special honors at these exercises. The Alumni banquet will be held at 6 and the president's reception at 9 p. m.

U. N. D. Varsity Club

A BOY—a girl—four bits—mix well—put at Varsity Club—result—a swell evening.

That's a regular scene at the remodeled top floor of the Commons. A smooth floor, good food at a decent price and a collegiate atmosphere have been combined to make the "Vub" the most popular spot on the campus.

During a discussion at the fall YW retreat, the idea of the Club was first brought up. The plan was suggested to the YM and the two organizations joined hands in sponsoring the club. Audrey Larkin, Dorothea Stinson, Rebecca Onstad, James Glyer, LeRoy Johnson and Charles

Ego directed the remodeling, equipping and opening of the "Vub."

The entire top floor of the Commons was given over, the front two rooms being done in a sand shade, while the huddle room was painted a dark blue. Five life size wall murals painted by Lydia Langer, depict college life in caricature.

Money for the remodeling and operating expenses of the club was obtained by the sale of over five hundred memberships at one dollar apiece. Regular floor shows and features were presented every week.

Lydia Langer's artistic touch adds a bit of life, which is being enjoyed by "thippers" Evie O'Keefe and Don Smith. Toar Johnson and Mary Jean McFadden watch the fun of Mrs. Selke, Ellen Bek and Al Selke. Gerry Klefstad and Bob Peterson strike a pose while Aaron Prondzinski and Martha Lou Johnson blow their horns. The Selkes and the Eatons have much fun the opening night. Looking at George Vaughan, Joanne Miller, Tiny Guss and Wayne Kelly, you can see it's great fun.

Another Artist Series

THE SECOND annual Artists' Series to be presented in Grand Forks gave the students of the University an opportunity to see and hear artists of recognized international fame. Special consideration was shown the students by the Community Music Association when it followed last year's practice of granting special rates for all University students.

Five concerts were presented by the Association under the general chairmanship of Professor John E. Howard, University bandmaster.

Lauritz Melchior of the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York City opened the series. Melchior, known as the "Great Dane of Song," has the renown of being the greatest living Wagnerian tenor.

The second concert of the series presented Mischa Levitski, renowned pianist of the New York concert stage.

Marian Anderson, hailed as the greatest living contralto, thrilled a capacity audience as she appeared on the third concert.

A famous violinist ever since his American debut in 1911, Efrem Zimbalist gave Grand Forks concert-goers their first chance in years to hear a great violinist.

Perhaps the best received of the concerts was the satirical ballet of Trudi Schoop. The gibing mimicry of her troupe provided an excellent conclusion for the 1938-1939 series.

Included in the varied program of the Artists' Series was the violin virtuoso, Efrem Zimbalist, and Contralto, Marian Anderson.

Striking the nonchalant pose is the comic dancer, Trudi Schoop, who was well received by all.

Music lovers thrilled to the playing of Pianist Mischa Levitski and the singing of Tenor Lauritz Melchior.

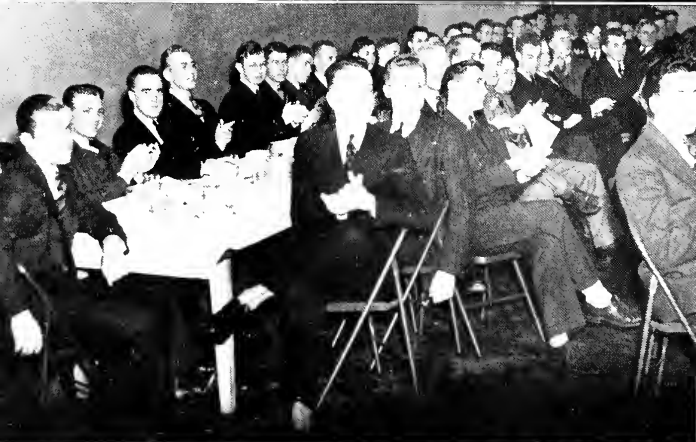

Other Events

Kappa Sigma poses for the photographer after winning the annual 1938 Interfraternity Sing, held each year on the coulee bank. Pete Hoehl, director, crouches behind the trophy.

Entertaining the little ones is a lot of fun for Dale Nordquist attending the annual Kiddies party given by the combined efforts of Mortar Board, Blue Key, YWCA and YMCA at Christmas time for needy children.

The past and present presidents of the Interfraternity council get together to discuss plans for Fraternity Week. On the left is Don Roney, the right, Harry Mowery.

A cross section of the banquet, climaxing Fraternity Week, where members gathered to hear some of the prominent Greeks who had been brought to the campus for the occasion. We found seven fraternities represented on this one picture.

The second week in May means High School week, and housing problems. These boys, lodged only a few doors down from the printing press, accept the noise more than cheerfully.

An off-campus tap dancer entertains freshmen during orientation.

Military Ball

THE "SOLDIER BOYS" of the University held their annual Military ball in the Casinova, December 9, with Theodore Beeman in charge as manager.

The commissioning of six coed sponsors, traditional ceremony of the ball, was performed by Brigadier General Heber L. Edwards, Bismarek officer.

Under an arch of crossed swords, Grace Sands, commissioned honorary lieutenant-colonel, led the honor march with Hubert Thomte, lieutenant-colonel.

Concluding the colorful ceremony was the presentation by the ball manager of Hazel Alexander as the "Toast of the Regiment." As a token of her honor, she received a bouquet of roses and a bracelet mounted with the crest of Scabbard and Blade, the officers' fraternity by whom she was chosen.

A battlefield setting was used to carry out the bombardment theme, with charging soldiers silhouetted on the wall panels. Featured on the program were Jackie Ruddy, five-year-old tap dancer, and a trumpet trio comprised of Robert Kerns, Manville Trumann and Gordon Winger.

Hazel Alexander, Toast of the Regiment

Time out for a bit of relaxation. The girls and boys don best bib and tucker for the ball.

Those first in line were Ted Beeman, Irene Legge, Grace Sands and Hubert Thomte.

Getting a slant on the presentation of commissions. Flowers for the "Toast of the Regiment," Hazel Alexander.

Junior and Senior Prom

TWO HUNDRED University couples danced to the nationally renowned music of Al Kavelin and his "Cascading Chords" at the annual Junior-Senior Prom, May 19, in the Armory. The date marked the first engagement of a big-name orchestra for a campus party.

Not only the rhythm for the formal, but also its theme was provided by Kavelin's group. Behind the orchestra on a wall panel a huge waterfall was painted, setting the keynote for the rest of the decorations. A forest setting was created by the trees and woodland scenes depicted on panels.

With dancing lasting from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., twelve dances and two extras were listed. Programs were of green suede stamped with the gold seal of the University. In place of the usual features, a half hour floor show was presented by entertainers traveling with Kavelin.

Ted Beeman, prominent on the campus as head of many other parties, headed arrangements for the prom as manager, with Vern Johnson as floor manager. Decorations were planned by Edwin Simpson and his assistants, and ticket sales were supervised by Maurice Butler. Russell Swendseid was in charge of properties and Jack Harris of publicity.

Managing proms has become an everyday affair for Ted Beeman, manager of the first combination Junior-Senior formal. He has headed such parties as the Military and the Interfraternity ball.

Ted Kavelin—for your approval—director of the band that played for combination prom. Kavelin brought with him a half-hour floor show.

All Campus Parties

IN A Casinova ballroom decorated with huge footballs, students and visiting alumni swung out at the University's first big party of the year, the informal Homecoming ball.

Climaxing the activities of Fraternity week, the second annual Interfraternity ball was held in the Armory November 11. Ball manager was Theodore Beeman.

Tradition was reversed at the Spinster Skip November 19. Coeds did the inviting, the escorting and the paying, and then, at the dance, witnessed the crowning of D. Scully as their "dream men." A fashion theme gave the decorations a feminine angle. Peggy Foss was manager of the Mortar Board sponsored party.

Yes, that's right — twin Dream men — the Scullys with Mortar Board prexy, Peggy Foss. We're out for a good time.

Dorr Hiestand's band is regular entertainment. The violin trio plays a melody at the Sweetheart Ball.

Women's League members watch their guests enjoy themselves. Gather 'round for the program at the Band Blare.

Have a heart and give us some punch. Dancing is our favorite recreation.

All Campus Parties

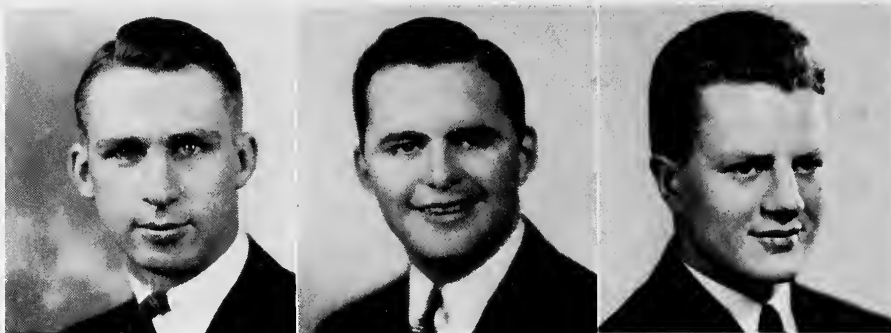

BANDSMEN chose an arctic setting for their annual Band Blare in the women's gymnasium, January 14. Don Hiestand, band leader, was also Blare manager.

Valentine time found University girls the hostesses at the Sweetheart ball, put on by the Women's league, February 11. Hearts, white lace, and silhouetted on the wall panels, girls in old-fashioned costumes, carried out a sentimental motif. Arrangements for the party were made by Eleanor Flett, president of the Women's League board.

Sophomores set a new precedent the next month when they held their first annual Silo Stomp in the Armory March 24. Sophomore President J. Allen directed plans for the affair.

Concluding formals of the year were the Matrix-sponsored Shadow ball, invitations to which are extended to only one hundred girls, and the Engineers ball held May 13.

Hobnob Committeemen Adrian McLellan, chairman, Stanley Walsh, Erling Knapp

Hobnobs

AT HOBNOBS, held at two-week intervals, campus couples spend the evening in informal dancing.

Adrian McLellan as chairman, assisted by Erling Knapp and Stanley Walsh, has been responsible for all arrangements for the parties. Beginning last fall, Hobnobs were held in the women's gymnasium rather than the Armory.

Directing his eleven-piece orchestra, Don Hiestand has provided all the dance music. His group is made up almost entirely of college students and is the only one of its kind on the campus. Soloists with the orchestra have been Anders Sweetland and Esther Gorder.

One of the most popular entertainers of the year has been Wayne Zimmerman, who has appeared several times. Other University students who have been featured at Hobnobs are songstresses Jane Hoy and Alice Marsh, Florence Schmidt and Marjory Thorvildson, piano soloists, and Elsie Edgar and JoJane Hage, tapdancers.

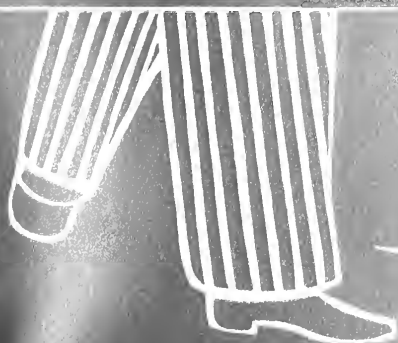

Three special Hobnobs, one in November and one in May, were held. The first was planned for NIPA delegates, while the second welcomed students here during High School week.

THE LILAC BALL at the Alpha Phi chapter house sets a new high in sorority spring formals. The fragrance of lilacs fills the living room and the dancers are silhouetted against a lavish floral background. This party is traditional with Pi chapter, the first national women's fraternity on the campus. The national Greek fraternity was founded October 10, 1872, and since that time 36 active chapters have come into existence. Honor roll activities for this chapter include the presidency of Women's League and the national Panhellenic delegate. Various campus activities have attracted Alpha Phis, and sisters of the silver and bordeaux are found in Radio, Playmakers, Orchestra, Band, Y. W. Junior Cabinet, and the Dean's Advisory Council. Congratulations were in order at the Alpha Phi house when two popular sophomore coeds were elected Coed Cadet Captain and the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Preparation for District spring convention of Alpha Phi were made early in the semester. At this convention the chapter will proudly display five recently pledged members which boosted their pledge group to the largest on the campus.

Chi Omega

IN THE LIGHT of the dim green eyes of a hoot owl, the Chi Omegas danced at one of their parties this season at the chapter house. Only a few weeks later, Chi Omegas were seen in their front yard creating a novel house decoration which placed second in homesoming decorations. Chi Omega coeds have been a willing audience this year to their sisters, active in Zeta Phi Eta and Playmakers, when lines were being rehearsed for forthcoming plays. The commerce sorority, Phi Chi Theta, has depended on two active Chi Omegas this last year who have acted as president and secretary for the group. Serving on the Y. W. C. A. council and senior cabinet is the corresponding secretary who wears the "Chi O" badge. Often seen at the Dean's teas is the Chi Omega member of the Dean's Council, while home economics Open House finds a Nu Delta Pi member weighing out candy for her committee. The sorority at 2912 University avenue was founded nationally at Fayetteville, Arkansas, on April 5, 1895. The local chapter was installed on this campus 16 years ago as Psi Gamma chapter of Chi Omega.

TRI DELTS turned out en masse on Homecoming day to see their float pass the Governor's stand and be awarded second place for sorority floats. Especially did they wait eagerly for the half to watch their two petite, high-stepping sorority sisters parade in front of the University band as they whirled their shiny batons — two Tri Delt pledges in white satin uniforms making very attractive feminine drum majors. At the Pansy breakfast each year the chapter bids farewell to senior girls. This spring outstanding senior girls in Who's Who, Grey Gown, and holding presidency of Y. W. C. A., Delta Phi Delta — not to forget the Queen of the Law School and an associate editor of the Dakota Student will all be missed by Theta Sigma chapter. Last fall the Tri Delt pledges chatted over chocolate cups with pledges from all sororities at their slumber party at the House. Already these pledges are active in campus affairs — two having been elected to the Freshman council. Thanksgiving eve at Boston, Massachusetts, marked the founding of Delta Delta Delta 51 years ago, which has since expanded into 87 chapters.

Delta Gamma

SEEN at the Varsity Club, campus parties and University functions this year, was the Delta Gamma trio, which has become a by-word in University entertainment. Also wearing an anchor is the vivacious little "Rooter King" who so effectively organized the Pep club. Delta Gamma has been headquarters for many campus journalists including assistant advertising manager of the Student, N. I. P. A. director, associate editor of the Dacotah, associate business manager of the Dacotah and secretary of Matrix. Scholastically D. G.s boast one Phi Beta Kappa, five members of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, while second rank in sorority scholarship is held by this chapter. Participating actively in campus affairs are also Senior and Junior Y. W. C. A. cabinet members, an active Mortar Board, Junior class president and secretary; and members in Women's League, Dean's Council and Peace Council. The D. G. House was once more turned into a rehearsal hall for Follies this spring, with last year's trophy an incentive to repeated achievement. Alpha Theta chapter's national founding took place at Oxford Institute 65 years ago, and today 48 active chapters exist.

ALUMS rate high in the estimation of the Delta Zetas who have given two banquets this past year in honor of them. The combined founders and homecoming banquet held in the fall made many Delta Zeta alums proud of their younger sisters who have taken over the reins in remarkable fashion. When this chapter's famous alum, a noted New York designer, was on the campus last fall, a banquet held in her honor marked another social success for the coeds at 2724 University. During the week "number 1780" is kept busy with Delta Zetas participating in so many campus activities. Their weekly calendar is well filled with meetings of Zeta Phi Eta, Nu Delta Pi, Pi Lambda Theta, Playmakers, Y. W. C. A. Junior cabinet, Phi Chi Theta and Delta Phi Delta. Distinguishing themselves in the field of speech are two Delta Zeta sisters active in debate, while radio playmakers from this house are kept busy reading script. Upsilon chapter is one of the 51 national chapters of this fraternity founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1902. The local chapter, northernmost chapter of Delta Zeta in the United States, was installed on this campus just 20 years ago.

Gamma Phi Beta

ALL Homecoming honors were captured by the Gamma Phis last fall. An all-campus election voted a charming Gamma Phi sophomore Homecoming Queen. Busy hours spent on third floor in the chapter house were rewarded when both first place in house decorations and float were awarded the Gamma Phis. Gamma Phi began its existence November 11, 1874, when the national sorority was founded at Syracuse University in New York. In their beautiful chapter house on the banks of the English coulee, this chapter holds their Snow Ball party each year when their living room is converted into a veritable winter wonderland. Other social events sponsored by these coeds are the Spinster Skip dinner, Brother and Sweetheart dinner, and the Presentation dinner, at which the outstanding Freshman girl on the campus is awarded a cup. Gamma Phi's striking prexy is president of Panhellenic. Presidency of Dakota Playmakers is also held by a Gamma Phi. Holding high campus honors are two Gamma Phi Mortar Boards who act as secretary and treasurer for the organization. Honors also in line for the Gamma Phis are membership in Women's League Board, treasurer of the Senior class, assistant Homecoming chairman and senior Carney accompanist.

TOP HONORS in scholarship went to the Thetas for the second consecutive year when the prized cup was presented to them at the Panhellenic banquet in February. They were also winners in the combined Follies Act of '38, and now exhibit the splendid trophy in their living room. Last March six Theta coeds went on the Madrigal trip — the largest representation from any House. Home economics has many followers who are wearers of the kite: Penates president, vice president, and treasurer; Nu Delta Pi vice president; and chairman of home economics open house this spring. Other Theta representatives include Mortar Board president, Who's Who, Junior cabinet president, outstanding freshman girl, winner of the Mortar Board scholarship award, three Sigma Epsilon Sigmas, two Women's League board members, member of senior cabinet, and Coed Sponsor. Social activities at the red brick house heading Fraternity Row were begun in grand style last December with a dinner preceding the Military Ball on Friday night. The following night Thetas and their guests attended the winter formal at the chapter house, preceded by a steak dinner. Theta chapters number 63 today, the original chapter being founded in 1870 at DePauw University.

Pi Beta Phi

MUSIC usually resounds from the four walls in the Pi Phi house on Cambridge street. Contributions come from talented members who are active in S. A. I., Madrigal club, Orchestra, and Concert band. Chosen as Coed Band Sponsor for the trip this spring was an attractive Pi Phi Junior. Another Junior girl often found at the keyboard has twice accompanied her class in the Carney song contest. Wearers of the golden arrow are looking forward to the spring conference to be held at the chapter house, with all officers of Grand Council to be in attendance. At this time Pi Phis can point with pride to the many individual achievements of its members. Ranking high among the women of the campus is their senior member elected to Who's Who. Her highest honors include editorship of the Dacotah, an appointment rarely received by a woman; presidency of Matrix and Zeta Phi Eta; associate editorship of the Student; Big Sister chairman and Y. W. C. A. council, and Grey Gown. Other organizations which have drafted many of their members from the ranks of Pi Beta Phi are Junior and Senior Y. W. cabinets, Pi Lambda Theta, Nu Delta Pi, Women's League board, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Dean's Advisory Council, Delta Phi Delta, Peace Council, Board of Publications and Phi Chi Theta. The Founder's Day banquet, April 28, reminded Pi Phis that 72 years ago the national fraternity was founded at Monmouth College.

Panhellenic Council

THE PANHELLENIC COUNCIL consisting of members from each campus sorority has as its purpose the upholding of rules of the national Panhellenic Congress. Last spring the group cooperated with the Interfraternity council to put out a booklet called "Fraternity Life at the University of North Dakota." This publication was sent out to all prospective University students during the summer months. Innovating a system of "mixing up" the various members of sororities proved more than successful at this year's Panhellenic scholarship dinner, sponsored each spring by the members of city Panhellenic. At this time announcements are made concerning the various scholastic standings of the women's groups on the campus. Awards are made to the chapters with the highest active average, highest pledge average and the highest combined average.

PROUDLY wearing the maltese cross on the U campus this year are three of senior class' most popular members. All three are members of Blue Key and were elected to Who's Who in the fall. Included in this trio is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Iron Mask, past and present president of Blue Key, Dacotah business manager and YM secretary. In the realm of sports, A. T. O. points proudly to its captain-elect of the football team, two student coaches and a student manager in Varsity boxing, and the five freshman members of the football team. This same fraternity also holds the Intramural hockey title for this year. Making themselves known on the campus are other members of A. T. O. who are prominent in Scabbard and Blade, as assistant Follies Manager, an Honorary Cavalier, in Madrigal, as one North Dakota nominee for Rhodes scholar, secretary of the senior class, sophomore class and one member of the Frosh council. Capturing the cup in the fraternity long-act division of the Follies of 1938 is another honor to add to this group's list. They also won second in both float and decorations during the 1938 Homecoming. Delta Nu chapter was host at the national convention this spring when Willard M. Benton, national president, was here. These fraternity activities recalled the founding of the fraternity on September 11, 1865, at Richmond, Virginia.

Beta Theta Pi

HOMECOMING time has been a gala time for the boys "who wear the diamond" for two years, having captured first place in house decorations in '37 and '38. One of their members has had a berth on the Varsity team this year in football, also. Looking around at most any basketball game, one could find a Beta dressed in the Varsity basketball uniform, while in action at frosh games was another boy from that particular house on the avenue. The R. O. T. C. draws three of its members of Scabbard and Blade from the Beta house, with one of them making the trip to the coast last winter as delegate to national convention. This same prominent Beta has been a regular member of the football team, president of Delta Phi Delta, and much in demand as "the" campus artist. Looking to the stage and the speech department, another Beta, prominent in Playmaker activities, can be found. He acts as vice president of this group, and is also a member of National Intercollegiate players. Making the band trip to Chicago were three members of this chapter, while found in the group of sophomores in the chapter is a member of Phi Eta Sigma. Colored by interesting tradition is the annual Mallory party given in the fall of each year, as well as the Miami Triad, at which Betas are partial hosts, when one is reminded of the founding of the chapter in 1839 at Miami University.

ALWAYS on hand at R. O. T. C. functions are four members of Delta Tau Delta, one of them second-in-command of the local units and another who serves as secretary of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity. One of these fellows was also president of the chapter, assistant homecoming chairman, manager of the Military ball, the Interfraternity ball, and the combined Junior-Senior prom. Musically speaking, the Delts are pretty well in control with the U's popular dance band in charge of one of the members with two of his fraternity brothers included in its members. The presidency of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity, is also in the hands of a Delt, and includes four other members. When the concert band left on its trip this spring for "all points east," five of the members were wearing the pin of Delta Tau Delta. This house also has one member of Phi Eta Sigma, scholarship, two members of Delta Sigma Pi, commerce, and five members of Playmakers. A large part of the Homecoming festivities were in the hands of three Delt chairmen. Each Christmas finds the Delts going festive with their annual Kris Kringle party to which two members of every campus fraternity are invited. Each year the chapter celebrates the national founding, March 3, 1859.

Kappa Sigma

HEADLINING the Carney song contest were two members of Kappa Sig, one leading the victorious Junior class and also winning the individual prize for the best original song sung by any one of the classes. These same two men are members of the concert band, Kappa Kappa Psi and the all-campus dance band. Found heading Interfraternity council meetings as president of the group was a Kappa Sig. This same man was in charge of activities during Fraternity Week, and also takes an active part in Playmakers and National Collegiate players. Dropping into the Law library, one could find the president of the active chapter, who is also a member of the Intramural board and has been elected to honorary offices in the law school. On the banks of the natural English coulee last spring, the chapter again won the award in the annual Interfraternity sing. Clad in white flannels and dark coats, the group was led by a graduating member of the Law school. Each year members of Kappa Sigma gather for celebration of the founding of the national organization on December 10, 1869, in Virginia. The local charter was granted September 25, 1926. Traditional parties in the Kappa Sig house include the annual country frolic when decorations are in accordance with the theme, and the chapter really puts on a fall costume party. Later in the year is the Thanksgiving breakfast followed by the annual spring formal.

WITH the musical activities in the headlines in the spring of this year, Lambda Chi Alphas were likewise news. Leading the Senior class in Carney in February was an active senior Lambda Chi. He also acted as Madrigal club president for the year, singing tenor in the club. Down in the journalism department, two Lambda Chis can be found at almost any time of the day. They are active in journalistic projects and are members of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism professional. These two men also act as president and vice president of the Lambda Chi active chapter. Out on the football field this fall were two freshmen from this same chapter who were numeral winners. Other members are active in Beta Alpha Psi, commerce group, and Delta Sigma Pi. Epsilon Zeta-Zeta chapter was given national recognition in scholarship when it won second place among the active chapters for the second semester of 1938. Each year finds the chapter giving their annual parent's day banquet, as well as a party for the sisters of the chapter. The chapter also celebrates each year its founding in Boston in 1909. Campus social activities find the Lambda Chis in full swing with their traditional fall frolic, annual spring formal, and dinner dance given at the Dacotah hotel.

Phi Alpha Epsilon

LOOKING around the engineering buildings one is sure to find one of the most outstanding members of Phi Alpha Epsilon who is not only a student, being president of Sigma Tau, but is also a member of Blue Key, honorary service group, a Varsity football man and chairman of A. I. E. E. Another engineer from the Phi Alph abode is also numbered in the members of Sigma Tau, engineering scholastic honorary. The former president of the chapter and a third year lawyer was elected King of the Law school this year. Another man has been elected to Beta Alpha Psi, commerce group, still another finding a spot for himself on the U debate team. On the football field this fall was a Varsity player who wears the Phi Alph badge. Other men are active in radio play-makers, with still another a pledge of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism group, and an active member of the sports staff on the Dakota Student. Each year the active chapter is entertained at a radio party by the pledges. An annual Christmas frolic is also given previous to the Christmas holidays, with the spring formal slated sometime in the late spring.

ORIGINATING from the Varsity Bachelor's club, Alpha Chapter of Phi Delta Theta was installed on this campus in 1913. Enthusiastic Phi Deltas cheered their brothers on to victory last fall in the touchball games, gaining the title of '38 Touchball Champs for the chapter. Also last fall the Phi Delt Barn Dance was in full swing — the "castle on the coulee" being alive with lights, straw, music — and noise! Phi Delt's president makes a very handsome soldier in his role as First Lieutenant in Scabbard and Blade. Haunting the Engineering building is a young Phi Delt sophomore who has been elected secretary and treasurer of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He was also elected to Phi Eta Sigma and acted as Campus Brother last fall. Another engineer who hails from the Phi Delt House has found time to write for the Sports Section of the Student, as well as being an active member of Intramural Board and serving as assistant chairman on the Homecoming committee. Three fellows known on the campus for their linguistic ability are wearers of the sword and shield. Two are active members of the debate squad, scoring honors in this field. The third was elected vice president of Hesperia. In decided contrast to their fall break-down party is the spring formal at the chapter house. Banked flowers shadowed by indirect lighting lend atmosphere for this annual party.

IN THE blue smoke of the den, S. A. E.s are often found discussing the plays of the last basketball game. Three Varsity basketball players hail from 306 Hamline. Another sports honor for the S. A. E.s came in the spring of '38 when they copped the baseball championship of the campus. Beer and cheese sandwiches are indispensable at the "Dutch Lunch"—S. A. E.'s traditional fall party. The formal which follows in the spring affords S. A. E. brothers a more dignified social event. March ninth each year is the annual Founder's Day banquet for the chapter when the founding—University of Alabama, 1856—is celebrated. The blue diamond is showing its front in the Law School of late. An S. A. E. holds the presidency of the Freshman law class, and another brother, the chairmanship of the annual Law School banquet. Last year fraternity brothers congratulated their Stockwell Oratorical contest winner. Responsibility of the Homecoming parade rested on the shoulders of an S. A. E., who acted as chairman of this all-important committee. Representing the S. A. E.s the afternoon of Homecoming was a Varsity Squad letterman. Other chapter honors during the past year include election of members into Beta Alpha Psi and Delta Sigma Pi.

THE ATHLETIC prowess of the campus seems to be centered at the Sigma Chi house for the '38-'39 sports season. Co-captains of the basketball team and a football co-captain all wear the white cross, while two sophomore ball players, also Sigs, promise to be good material for next fall's Varsity line-up. Sigs have taken the lead this past year in Intramural track and Intramural basketball to complete their sports program. Sophomore and Senior class affairs have been managed by three likable Sigs — presidents of the two classes, and vice president of the sophomores. Honors have been steadily increasing this year at the Sig house. Three members of Blue Key, a Who's Who, Iron Mask member, Homecoming chairman, a Phi Beta Kappa, two Sigma Tau members, three members of Beta Gamma Sigma, winner of Bye Award, and two members of Kappa Kappa Psi are all Sigma Chi distinctions. Executive ability is also seen in Sigs who act as prexies for Phi Delta Phi and Delta Sigma Pi. Journalistic talent is found in this chapter in the persons of associate editor of the Dacotah and associate editor of the North Dakota Engineer. And completing the honor list is the Sigma Chi captain of Scabbard and Blade. The school year ends in grand style for the Sigs. A Bemidji lakeside hotel serves as quarters for the annual house party where Sigs and guests enjoy a final 'fling' before summer vacation.

Sigma Nu

LOOKING for a Sigma Nu? You will probably find him either down in the journalism department or over in the radio station somewhere. Wearing the white star is the business manager of the Dakota Student who was also president of the active chapter, and the assistant advertising manager of the same publication. On the editorial "side of the fence" are five other members of Sigma Nu, two of them members of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism professional, one of the publications and radio editor of the 1939 Dacotah. When the University station is on the air, an active Sigma Nu is supervising the program with another of the brothers taking over the newscast from the same station. When Varsity athletics are the thing, one can find two wearers of the white star on the track and football teams. Other activities in which the chapter has members are radio playmakers, Beta Alpha Psi, Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Delta Phi, and Kappa Kappa Psi. The Sigma Nu bowling team has rolled its way to victory for two years, participating in the campus intramural setup. Each year the chapter celebrates its founding at V. M. I. in 1869 with a banquet at the chapter house. Every year means also the "Break-down," costume party, for the Sigma Nus with decorations supreme. A winter formal dinner dance is given each February followed by the annual spring formal at the chapter house.

FOOTBALL is the by-word you want to use when seeking entrance to the Teke abode — or perhaps merely, athletics. Headlining the Sioux football season was one of the co-captains, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and also of Blue Key, and was also last year's winner of the Junior Athletic scholarship award. Another member of the chapter is a past football co-captain and member of Blue Key and played pro football with the Detroit Lions the first semester. Also to be found in the Teke shack are members of Phi Delta Phi, president of the Frosh council, last year's Senior prom floor manager and several football lettermen. Active on the sports page of the Student is a Teke journalist who has also taken over a column of his own recently. Hanging on the wall at this same house is the 1938 trophy for Intramural volleyball champions; last year they took the hockey championship. Tau Kappa Epsilon is the newest national fraternity on the campus, this charter being granted only last spring to what was formerly called Tau Sigma Rho. Alpha Sigma chapter celebrated its first national founder's day with a banquet on January 10. A three-day conclave and initiation was held last spring at the time that the chapter was formally installed by national officers. On the social side of the calendar, the Tekes are hosts every spring at their spring formal held in a downtown hotel.

Theta Chi

THETA CHI points proudly to its record of scholarship within the past few years, being winners of the combined and active scholarship trophy for 1938, thus receiving every scholastic trophy offered on the campus since 1923. Not only has the chapter won campus recognition, but it has been in possession of the Leland Stanford national award for the past two years. Looking at other all-chapter activities, one finds that Theta Chi took first place in floats in the 1938 Homecoming and placed second in the Interfraternity sing last spring. Eight members from this chapter are members of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholarship honorary, while one is a member of Blue Key, service group. On the side of athletics the chapter has three football team members and letter winners and a member of the frosh basketball squad. Other activities in which Theta Chis are active include Beta Alpha Psi, commerce; the Dacotah yearbook, four members of the staff; the Dakota Student, a member of the Intramural board and president of Interfraternity council. Looking again to scholarship, we find a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce, and two members of Sigma Tau, engineering. Every April 10, members of Theta Chi celebrate their founding in 1856 at Norwich University, Vermont, with a banquet and a formal party. Other traditional social activities include the "Limehouse" party given in the fall, and the winter snowball.

Interfraternity Council

GOVERNING body of the twelve fraternities on the campus, the Interfraternity council has an enviable record of service to its members and to the University. No student organization weilds as great a sphere of influence. Holding the power to regulate the fraternities, the Interfraternity council decides on rushing rules, social regulations, and, in general, administers the affairs of its twelve member groups. The first council was organized in 1925, and since that time has assumed an important role in solving the problems of Greek letter organizations. Its list of achievements include the organization of one of the most efficient Intramural athlctc systems in the country and the sponsorship of the Interfraternity sing, an event held each spring which has become a University tradition. Last year the group participated in the first Fraternity Week held on this campus. Always ready to advertise the University and fraternities themselves, the Interfraternity council has a weekly radio program and publishes an attractive pamphlet called "Fraternities at the University of North Dakota."

BUDGE HALL is the hub around which the wheel of college life whirls. Situated in the center of the campus this building was erected as the first men's dormitory. The hall is now a center of social activity, as it has been since its founding, for it not only houses sixty-seven men, but also the campus Y. M. C. A., which furnishes much of the between-class entertainment as well as sponsoring tournaments of all sorts for the men who live on the campus. Through its organization the boys who reside there enter into Intramural athletics and conduct the usual run of social affairs. They are also well represented in fields of leadership, scholarship, and service.

DAVIS HALL. University sponsored women's dormitory, is named in honor of Hannah E. Davis, the first matron. It is attractively located on the banks of the English coulee, within a short distance of all the campus buildings. In addition to being a dormitory, Davis hall houses the Women's League rooms and the home economics laboratories and the practice house. Girls from Davis hall are active participants in all of the campus activities. They present a well rounded program of open houses and parties which make the campus life of the seventy girls who live there a pleasant and active one.

SAYRE HALL, erected in 1908, is located on the Wesley college campus. It is the University home of fifty-two men. The hall is named in honor of Lt. Harold Sayre, who lost his life during the World War. Residents of the hall are active in many fields of campus activity. Through organization, the hall has been able to present and put forth many things as a unit that would be thought impossible for the average dormitory. Its athletic teams are among the best competitors in the campus leagues. Social life is not neglected. Numerous open houses and the annual spring dance highlight the society life of Sayre hall.

DACOTAH BOARD

Ormiston Kermott Ruth Davies
John Gislason Florence Dicker

SUPERVISION of the Dakota Student and the Dacotah yearbook, student owned and controlled publications, is directed by the Board of Publications. Since 1924, when the two were placed under control of one board, the publications have been governed by the group which acts on all pertinent matters, such as financial policies, staff appointments and other major issues.

Five members hold positions on the Student publication board, while four extra students become acting members when policies concerning the Dacotah are discussed. Miss Dicker replaced Eldred Swingen when the latter was chosen associate editor of the 1939 yearbook.

Faculty member of the board is G. Bjorn Bjornson, head of the journalism department, who acts as adviser to the group. He is serving his second year in that capacity.

Vacancies left by graduating or resigning members are elected by the board itself from a group of undergraduate candidates submitted by the Dean of Women. The Student board gets together for monthly sessions and the important meeting of the Dacotah group was held last fall to supervise setting up the annual budget.

THE ALUMNI REVIEW has as its purpose the binding together of the tie between the University and her alumni. First issued in 1926, the publication has grown into a modern magazine, largely through the efforts of Editor Frank Webb, director of the Alumni bureau, who first sponsored the Review.

Official publication of the Alumni association, it is published four times during the year under the direction of Russell Asleson, '40, managing editor. Alumni clubs are located in New York City, Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Milwaukee, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles. North Dakota cities having clubs include: Williston, Minot, Dickinson, Bismarck-Mandan, Bottineau, Jamestown, Valley City, Devils Lake, Wahpeton, Fargo, New Salem, Grand Forks and New Rockford.

Officers of the Alumni association are: Paul Griffith, '08, president; O. B. Burtness, '06, vice president; Frank Webb, '22, secretary; and J. W. Wilkerson, treasurer.

Included in the Review are campus news, sports, general and alumni happenings. Special emphasis is laid on news of former students, and approximately one-half the magazine is devoted to alumni information.

Helen Oppegard, Director

APPROXIMATELY 200 delegates, an all-time high, attended the eighteenth annual convention of the Northern Intercollegiate Press association November 3, 4 and 5.

Sponsored by the department of journalism, Sigma Delta Chi and Matrix for the promotion of high school publications, four states submitted entries. Delegates came from North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana. Trophies and awards were given for the outstanding printed newspapers, mimeographed newspapers, best section of a town paper, annuals and magazines.

The Gallatin High News, printed paper of Bozeman, Montana, won the sweepstakes trophy. Winner of the Matrix cup for the best woman-edited paper as well as the Dakota Student trophy for the best mimeographed sheet was the Aurora Borealis of Aurora, Minnesota. The Hope Student Times, Hope, N. D., rated the Sigma Delta Chi award for the best section of a town paper.

Helen Oppegard, assistant last year to Bruce Westley, directed the 1938 convention with the assistance of William Fearn, Marion Lynch, Dorothy McCumber and Joanne Miller. G. Bjorn Bjornson was faculty adviser.

Program opened Thursday with President John C. West giving the address of welcome followed by an explanation of the convention by Bjornson. Prominent speakers included Harry O'Brien of Park River, publisher of the Walsh County Press, and B. W. Condit of Mayville, publisher of the Traill County Tribune. Others who spoke to the high school journalists were Prof. W. G. McNaughton, of the University faculty, Mrs. Edith F. Thompson, society editor of the Grand Forks Herald, and Edward Butler, KFJM sports announcer.

Features on the three-day program included newswriting, advertising writing, an open forum on news problems, news quizzes and a question box. Various heads of the Dakota Student spoke on phases of journalism, which included both the editorial and business relations of newspapers.

The annual "coke and hot dog" party was given by Matrix Thursday evening in the journalism lab for all visiting students who might be interested in seeing the Dakota Student go to press. Editor Bert Timm explained the mechanics of putting a Student out, and then invited all the high school students to join in and write headlines for the next day's issue.

Registration for the annual convention was held on Thursday night in the Student office with Helen Oppegard in charge, and continued the next day for the late comers. Chief assistant during this time was Bill Fearn, sophomore in journalism.

An all-University Hobnob was held in conjunction with the convention, and all visitors were invited as honored guests to dance to the music of Don Hiestand's orchestra. The annual convention banquet was held in the Dacotah hotel Friday at 6:30 p. m. All awards for the various divisions were announced and presented by N. I. P. A. Director Helen Oppegard, with 50 special guests from the University and Grand Forks being in attendance.

As a finale to the two day session, a complete trip through the Grand Forks Herald plant was conducted on Saturday morning.

THE NORTH DAKOTA ENGINEER, released four times yearly, is a self-supporting magazine which pertains solely to the engineering profession and seeks to publicize activities of University engineers.

The constitution governing the Engineer reveals that the purpose of publication is to promote a favorable attitude toward the College of Engineering and to stimulate interest in that field.

Editor is Erling M. Bolstad while directing business policies is Bruce McArthur. Bolstad succeeded Gordon Ebbe while McArthur replaced Jack Lamming. Under their direction, approximately 500 copies are published for each issue with the figure soaring to 6000 Engineer's Day. Alumni news and activities have played a prominent part in the publication this year.

Members of the faculty board are Professors D. R. Jenkins, W. E. Budge and Alfred Boyd, who choose important staff positions each April. Assisting Bolstad on the editorial side are Paul Ducharme and Ormiston Kermott, assistant editors; Sterling Mitchell, news editor; Amer Stump, humor editor; and Francis Maxwell, alumni editor. McArthur's aides on the business staff are Adrian Vaksvik, advertising, and William Gahr, circulation.

Speech and Music

E. D. SCHONBERGER

Speech Department

The three plays presented were "The Night of January 16," a courtroom drama; "Far-Off Hills," an Irish play; and "You Can't Take It With You," a comedy presented during High School week on the University campus.

PROVIDING dramatic experience for student actors and furnishing entertainment for the campus and community is the work of the Dakota Playmakers, largest organization on the campus. This group, directed by E. D. Schonberger, head of the public speaking department, contains 170 members, 100 of these being actives and 75 reserves.

Deviating this year from their general procedure, the Dakota Playmakers presented three plays instead of their usual four. This was done to avoid a conflict with the Flickertail Follies.

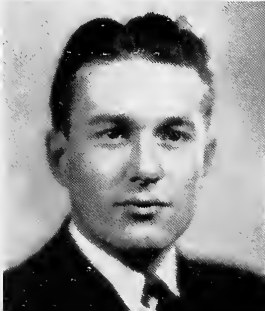

Edith Asheim is Playmaker president; Arthur Friesz, vice president; Janet Wallace, secretary-treasurer, and Theodore Beeman, member at large and head of publicity.

Elected to National Collegiate Playmakers this year were Joyce Cawley, Ardith Halseth, Muriel Wynne, Jeanne Nelson, Darlyne Stinson and Janet Wallace. With the addition of these members, a total of 99 students have been elected to this national organization since its institution on the University campus in 1925.

W. S. SCHRIER

CAMPUS debating and forensics, besides being two of the most active and interesting activities for student participation, build much good will between the University and the organizations before whom they appear. Under the direction of William Schrier, associate professor of public speaking, debating and forensics have given valuable contributions to the student body.

Each year various tournaments and debating contests are participated in by members of the squad. Notable among those in which they appeared this year were the Red River Valley tournament, the Delta Sigma Rho tournament, Forensic day and their annual Good Will tour.

Besides these contests, members of the squad made appearances before such downtown organizations as Kiwanis, Rotary, A. O. U. W., Lions, Townsend Club, Knights of Columbus and Central High School.

Representatives of the debate squad attended the National Delta Sigma Rho Student Congress held this spring in Washington, D. C.

Prominent and extremely active on the U debate squad are Robert Vogel, James Leo and Russell Swendseld.

JAMES GLYER won first place this year in annual Merrifield contest and Lowell O'Grady took second place. The late Dr. Webster Merrifield, professor and president of the University, established the annual prizes of $30 and $20. Using the topic "New Deal," Robert Vogel won first place and James Leo took second place in the King Extemporaneous contest. Prizes of $20 and $15, made possible by a $1000 endowment left by the late Dr. Frank J. King, were awarded the winners.

Lyle Huseby won the annual Peace contest this year. This contest does not have a cash award, but the winner is sent to the State Peace

The second annual Min Hin Li contest was held in April under the joint auspices of the Department of Public Speaking and the International Relations club. The subject of the contest was "China." The King Verse reading contest, an annual event of the speech contest usually held in May, was won by Ruth Fursteneau. A first prize of $20 and a second prize of $15 are awarded the winners. Prize money comes from a fund established for that purpose by Dr. Frank King, deceased St. Thomas physician. Contest participants are selected on the basis of tryouts.

H. C. ROWLAND

THE University of North Dakota Madrigal club, under the direction of Hywel C. Rowland, is one of the best known of student choirs in the northwest. Membership is limited to 80 singers with the number of men and women about equally divided.

Since its organization in 1928 the group has made annual tours of Canada and Northern United States. The best singers of the group are selected for the tours, which this year included appearances in Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Barnesville, Fargo, Wahpeton, St. Paul, Chicago, Baraboo, Wisconsin, Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Cando. They were invited to take part in the celebration at Winnipeg in May for the visiting King and Queen of England.

Officers of the club include Elmer Anderson, president; Clayton Mundt, vice president; Muriel Wynne, secretary; Alice Marsh, treasurer; Clifford Fering, business manager; and Gregory Dahlen and Vera Mae Young, librarians.

THE WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB, composed primarily of freshman women interested in vocal work, is directed by Carol Miles Humpstone, professor of music. The club is organized the first week in the fall term, and try-outs are held for all girls who are interested in becoming members.

First appearance of the glee club this year was made when the girls sang a half-hour concert over the University station at Christmas time. Following this in the spring, the group was presented in its annual concert by the Women's League board. The program was composed of chorus numbers, solos and two sextets from the group.

Climaxing the year, the Women's Glee club is always the University choral group which sings for graduation exercises in June. Florence Schmidt has been acting as accompanist for the group during this school year.

JOHN E. HOWARD

"SWING it, John."

And genial, jovial John Howard takes his bow and strikes up the band.

Howard, as the boys say, "is mixed up in everything." He directs the University ROTC band, the ROTC marching band, the UND concert band, and the concert orchestra. Under his able leadership, the band has been able to take tours of the country, going to Chicago, Milwaukee, the Twin Cities, etc. Consistently, year after year, the concert orchestra presents a polished repertoire which shows the results of Howard's work as director. His leadership in campus and outside affairs can be judged by the activities he undertakes. He is director of bands and orchestras, convocation chairman, commencement chairman, Founders day chairman, National student adviser of the National Federation of Music clubs, director of music of 117 districts Rotary International and director of the Presbyterian choir. For several years he has acted as co-director of the Flickertail Follies.

Accompanying the concert band on its Chicago tour, Alice Marsh, 1939 co-ed sponsor, thrilled the large audiences with her superb soprano voice. A junior in education, she is majoring in music. She is also a member of the concert orchestra, the Madrigal club, Pi Lambda Theta, Sigma Epsilon Sigma and the Women's Glee club.

R. O. T. C. Band

AFFILIATED with the military department of the University is the R. O. T. C. band led by Drum Majors Henry Gotzian, Ruth Coghlan and Elsie Edgar, and directed by John E. Howard, professor of music.

The band, which includes players from all four classes, stresses marches and bugle calls in preparation for parades both in downtown Grand Forks and on the campus. A fifty-piece marching band was ordered for the spring review this year.

Two trips to Fargo were on the 1938-39 schedule, one for the A. C. Homecoming game, and the other for the last game in the basketball series between the University and the A. C.

Director John E. Howard, who is responsible for the success of the band, lists as his activities for the year: director of bands and orchestras, chairman of Convocation, Commencement, and Founders Day, National Student Adviser of National Federation of Music clubs, president of Northern Lights district of the National Federation of Music clubs in the Dakotas and Minnesota, director of music of 117 districts of Rotary and International, director of the Presbyterian choir and co-director of the Flickertail Follies. THE UNIVERSITY'S Concert Band takes over a triple responsibility in school functions by playing for athletic contests, making up a part of the military department, especially during the spring review, and providing a concert organization in the music department. It also plays for the annual Interfraternity Sing in the spring and assists in Memorial and Armistice Day parades.

Miss Alice Marsh is this year's coed sponsor, who was featured at June commencement exercises, at the President's concert and on the spring tour. Opening with a concert in Grand Forks on March 28th, sponsored by the Rotary club and Blue Key, complimentary to residents of Grand Forks, the band continued to Fargo, Sank Center, Minneapolis, Hudson, Wis., Eau Claire and Chicago. There its major engagement was for the Chicago U. N. D. Alumni club.

Concert Orchestra

THE UNIVERSITY Concert Orchestra is directed by John E. Howard, University band director, and is composed of students from the band and those playing stringed instruments. Practice is held each week in Woodworth hall.

In March of every year, the orchestra is presented in its formal concert in the Presbyterian church of Grand Forks. A varied program is given, interspersed with solo work from various members of the group. The program is varied and always well received.

A Playmaker play automatically means the appearance of the orchestra, which all gives a pre-curtain program, as well as playing between acts of the performance.

Each spring at Commencement the University orchestra is featured, together with the Women's Glee club. The group makes other appearances during the year, appearing at conventions held in Greater Grand Forks and going on short trips when possible. Small groups from the orchestra often play at large University and downtown banquets.

Radio Playmakers put on a thriller

Radio

UNIVERSITY broadcasting has marched forward. This year the regular schedule supplemented with special events reached a total mark of 14 hours weekly.

Virgil Banning is program director of Woodworth studios and directs all broadcasts which include drama, science, music, literature, medicine, and music appreciation.

Announcers included Russ Ireland, Dave McLean and Angelo Engel. Hollis Hoff is campus news commentator and publicity director, while sports are handled by Orville Bergren, dramatics by Jeanne Nelson and script by Marjorie Taves.

Dean J. V. Breitwieser heads the committee in charge of the radio station. Committee members are Hywel C. Rowland, who supervises programs, R. E. Jenkins, John L. Hundley and Miss M. Beatrice Johnstone.

Staff announcers who carry the burden of U. N. D. broadcasts are Virgil Banning, student director of the station, Orville Bergren, sports commentator, and Russ Ireland.

THE R. O. T. C. Rifle team this year compiled the fine record of winning more than fifty percent of its matches. These matches are conducted by exchanging and comparing the scores made by the competing teams on their own ranges. Captain of the rifle team this year was Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Hubert D. Thomte, whose average throughout the season was slightly better than 371 out of a possible 400. The staff of instructors is headed by the Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Colonel George W. C. Whiting, who came here in October, 1938. The other commissioned officers on the staff are Major Andrew J. Powell and Major LaMar Weaver, both of whom have been with the unit for four years. Sergeant M. C. LaForce and Sergeant G. F. Richter complete the staff.

THE RIFLE TEAM

Military

THE Reserve Officers' Training Corps has for its purpose "affording military education and information to students in preparing for the country's defense." The first two years of the course is known as the basic training, during which time the student learns preliminary rifle marksmanship, elementary drill and command, first aid and beginning military principles and tactics. Those that show aptitude, and are desirous of doing so, are enrolled in the advanced course.

In this part of the subject, such things as military history, military law, advanced military tactics, care and operation of infantry weapons, are studied. Throughout the whole course, practical drill is conducted once a week.

In the organization of the companies, the first year advanced students are given the positions of non-commissioned officers, while the second advanced carry on the functions of regular commissioned officers.

Cadet Officers

THE CADET OFFICERS of the University of North Dakota R. O. T. C. unit are headed by Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Hubert D. Thomte. He is the commander of the battalion which is organized within the unit. The second in command is Cadet Major Theodore F. Beeman. The various cadet captains and the companies which they command are: Francis Maxwell, Co. A; Erwin Anzjon, Co. B; Dom Pepke, Co. C; and George Clayton, Co. D. The Battalion Adjutant is Cadet First Lieutenant Vern E. Johnson. At the beginning of the second semester the companies and platoons are organized in preparation for the platoon and company competitions which are two of the highlights of the spring drill season.

PHI BETA KAPPA, honorary scholarship society in the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts, and the oldest of the Greek-letter fraternities, has held to its original purpose since its founding. "Love of wisdom the helmsman of life" was the motto originally adopted by the fraternity and engraved on its medal. Phi Beta Kappa has set for itself the noble task of encouraging true scholarship and practical idealism in the schools throughout the country. Each year ten to fifteen percent of the total number of graduates are elected to Phi Beta Kappa. People who have shown themselves outstanding in learning and leadership are given the task of carrying on the worthy traditions of the group. New members are admitted to an illustrious company; the record made by its eminent members, both living and dead, cannot but stimulate in every wearer of the key a desire to realize his highest possibilities in both thinking and doing.

For further encouragement of scholarship, Alpha Chapter of North Dakota has, during the past years, shared with Sigma Xi fraternity the honor of enaging a speaker for the North Dakota Academy of Science. The Honors Day Convocation is sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa and each year the group awards a scholarship plaque to the Class A and Class B high schools whose graduates secure the highest scholastic ranking while enrolled as freshmen in the University of North Dakota.

RECOGNIZING a select few, Iron Mask annually elects members to this senior men's honorary. As part of its program the society has dedicated itself to uphold the traditions of the University of North Dakota.

The limited number of activities of the society are carefully withheld from the publicity mediums, and no attempt at personal gain is made by the members. The organization attempts through united efforts to be a vital force on the campus.

Qualifications for membership in the society differ from those of the other societies on the campus but are below none, and membership is considered the highest honor to be received.

The membership has not exceeded five students during the past four years. Two new members have been elected each year. President John C. West and William Holland were elected to the group in 1935. In the following year Robert Campbell and Robert Kunkel were honored with membership. Adrian McLellan and Dale Nordquist, who are still active in the group, were elected in 1937. In the 1938 election William McCosh and Elbert Timm were elected.

THE NORTH DAKOTA chapter was installed in 1932 by the national president of Mortar Board, Mrs. Catherine Coleman, and took over the work of Quo Vadis, a local, held on this campus in conjunction with Blue Key. Election to the group is based upon scholarship, leadership and service, and the women selected participate in a lengthy service program each year.

Each spring five senior girls robed in cap and gown pass on the traditions and responsibilities of the North Dakota chapter at an impressive tapping ceremony staged at the Women's League junior-senior banquet. The chosen juniors are led before the upper-class women and pledged to the organization. Secret initiation takes place later in the spring.

This small group of girls from the senior class each year is the local representative of a national honorary service fraternity founded at Syracuse University in 1918. Its history began when the representatives from five schools found that purposes of local groups were very similar, and that two of the groups even had almost identical Mortar Board pins.

NATIONAL men's honorary service fraternity, Blue Key was founded at the University of Florida in 1924. The University of North Dakota chapter was installed in 1926. Election to membership is based on scholarship, leadership, character and service to the University.

Foremost among the worthy projects of the group this year was the banquet in honor of the employees of the University who had served the school for 25 years or more. Blue Key also worked with Mortar Board to present the convocation program honoring these people.

The Eielson Memorial tree to be planted on the campus is sponsored by this group, while a bookcase in Merrifield hall containing all of the books published by the members of the faculty, which was established last year, was maintained and improved this year by Blue Key.

The fraternity cooperates annually with Mortar Board in sponsoring Parents' Day. The fraternity also presents an award to the senior athlete with the highest scholastic average each year. Members usher at all convocations and act as guides for campus visistors. Present officers are: Stanley Walsh, president; Erling Bolstad, vice president; Albert Selke, secretary; Erling Knapp, treasurer.

SIGMA EPSILON SIGMA is a national honorary scholastic sorority for freshmen women. It was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1926 and has chapters at many of the large universities. Delta chapter was established at the University of North Dakota in 1930 under the guidance of former Dean of Women Beatrice Olson and Dean William G. Bek.

The purpose of the sorority is to further scholarship among the women at the University. To be eligible for membership, a girl must obtain an average of at least 2.5 in thirty hours of work during her freshman year. Membership is granted during a girl's sophomore year.

THE University chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic fraternity, was founded on May 23, 1930. Phi Eta Sigma was formed with a two-fold purpose: to recognize concentrated hard work and ability and to stimulate freshmen toward continued high endeavor, and to bring men of high scholastic standards together.

Elections to this honorary group are made twice each year. Freshmen who maintain an average of at least 2.5 while carrying at least fifteen hours of academic work during either the first or second semester of the freshman year are eligible for membership.

A meeting of the group is held twice each month to discuss projects of the fraternity and to transact any necessary business. In the past a Phi Eta Sigma award has been made to four of the outstanding freshmen in their sophomore years.

The first chapter of Phi Eta Sigma was founded at the University of Illinois on March 22, 1923, when it was realized that such endeavor was worthy of recognition.

PI LAMBDA THETA, national honorary educational sorority, was installed on the University campus in 1925 as Tau chapter. Women who have high scholarship and give evidence of professional interest, outstanding leadership and national promise in the field of education are selected by the group. To be elected to membership a woman must rank among the highest one fourth of those women registered in the School of Education.

The organization fosters professional spirit and the highest standards of scholarship and professional training, as well as encouraging graduate work and a fellowship among the women of the profession.

NU DELTA PI is an organization for women majoring in Home Economics and exhibiting the qualities of leadership, personality, and high scholarship. The aim of the organization is to stimulate interest in the various scientific, social, cultural and professional aspects of home economics.

Every year Nu Delta Pi awards a scholarship prize to the junior majoring in home economics who maintains the highest average during her first two years.

FOUNDED in 1904 at the University of Nebraska, Sigma Tau was established on the University campus in 1922 as Pi chapter. It is a national honorary fraternity for engineering students.

Members are elected from the junior and senior classes on the basis of scholarship, practicability and sociability, with high standards on each score. Each year the fraternity awards a medal to the sophomore engineer who maintained the highest average as a freshman in the school of engineering.

Bi-monthly meetings are held and papers and discussions on various engineering subjects are held.

IN 1913, the North Dakota chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota was installed on the Wesley College campus. This fraternity is a national honorary music group for women. Only girls of outstanding musical talent and ability with high scholarship are taken into the membership.

In carrying out their program for the year, members of this fraternity, assisted by their alumni, plan for an annual convocation in which they display the talent of the chapter, and for the monthly recitals held at the homes of the chapter patronesses.

SCABBARD AND BLADE, an honorary military fraternity, is composed of members elected from the senior division of military science and tactics. The elections are made on the basis of military ability and leadership. The organization was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1904, while the chapter at the University of North Dakota was established in 1921.

The purpose of Scabbard and Blade is to develop and foster patriotic ideals among its members and to assist in the work of the Reserve Officers training corps.

The chapter takes active part in the annual spring drill, and also sponsors a spring formal each year.

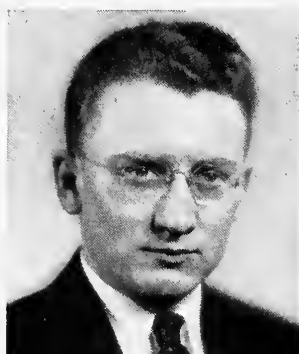

Individual Honors

OUTSTANDING in the field of forensics, Russell Swendseid has been awarded the George Shafer prize offered by Hesperia literary society for excellence in that field. The prize is offered by Alumnus George Shafer, one time governor of North Dakota.

Swendseid has participated in University oratorical events, in addition to being one of the "Iron Man" debaters on the team which went to Washington this year.

Eldred Swingen has been announced the 1939 winner of the Alfa Eugene Bye award, highest distinction in the entire School of Commerce. The award is given annually to the senior in Commerce whose record most nearly approaches the standards of character, leadership and scholarship attained by the late Alfa Eugene Bye, course in Commerce, 1924.

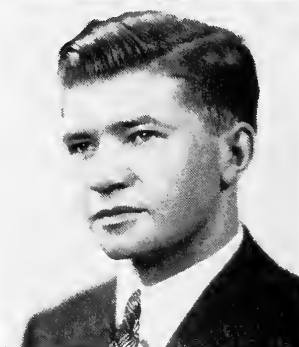

Russell Swendseid
Eldred Swingen
Edwin Madsen

Swingen is one of the few students who have attained straight A averages and is a leader in the School of Commerce honor societies.

Each year Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce and business honorary, awards to the student entering the Commerce course who has the highest average for his two years of pre-commerce study a $25.00 prize. Winner in 1939 was Edwin Madsen.

Madsen is another straight A student. He is active in music in addition to his scholastic attainments.

Harold Sorstokke and Frederick Olson are winners of the Sigma Tau engineering medals this year. The medals are awarded annually to sophomores in engineering who maintain the highest freshman scholastic average. Sigma Tau, engineering honorary, makes the selection.

Normally only one candidate is selected. This year, because both winners were so nearly equal in abilities, the duplicate award was made.

Mortar Board, women's service honorary, engraves on a special plaque the name of the freshman girl who maintains the highest scholastic average her first semester here. This year the award went to Elaine Jacobson.

It is interesting to note, that to win this honor the recipient must be well nigh perfect. Since the plaque was first put into use in 1936 only girls with straight A averages have their names engraved there.

The Baukol-Noonan engineering scholarship was awarded to Sterling Mitchell for 1939. The scholarship is tenable for one year and has a cash value of $200. Its award is based on scholarship, general aptitude for engineering work, leadership, and personality.

SIGMA DELTA CHI, national professional journalism fraternity, has sponsored a program during the school year of talks and convocations dealing with international affairs.

On February 3, the local chapter brought Dr. Gerhard Schacher, Prague journalist and authority on European affairs, to the University in its annual convocation. Other professional meetings were held at which campus instructors spoke on various phases of international problems.

The Flickertail Follies of 1939 were again presented under the direction of Sigma Delta Chi. This all-campus production has been given each year for twelve years under the sponsorship of this men's journalism organization.

North Dakota chapter won third place in national efficiency contest at the SDX convention in Madison this fall. Kenneth Schlasinger was official delegate.

A., members of this group serve a lunch and put on an informal party in the journalism lab for high school students attending the convention.

In past years, Matrix has put out a humor paper called the Lily the night of Carney, and taken charge of publicity work for the Student Union building. The annual Shadow Ball to which 100 of the most popular and representative campus coeds are invited, is sponsored each year by this same group. Invitations are sent only to this select group of women. Manager of the 1939 party was Helen Opegard, vice president of the group.

Each spring Matrix entertains its brother organization, Sigma Delta Chi, at a picnic. At this time, the Baby Lily, which contains department gossip, is edited by the group and distributed.

COINCIDENT with the increasing prestige of the University accounting department has been the growth of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity.

Since 1923, when the group was installed, the fraternity has fostered the ideals of integrity and service which mark the accounting profession.

major in that group of the School of Commerce are requisites for membership.

Round table discussions on problems of business, and talks by business men mark the bi-monthly meetings of the group. This year Beta Alpha Psi published the first directory of graduates and students of the accounting department.

A NATIONAL women's commerce fraternity, Phi Chi Theta was founded at the University of Chicago in 1924. One year later, Kappa chapter was installed on this campus.

Its purpose is: "To foster high ideals for women in business careers, to encourage the fraternity co-operations among women preparing for such careers and to stimulate the spirit of sacrifice and unselfish devotion to the attainment of such ends."

Charters are granted only to colleges and universities having business schools of recognized standing.

On this campus, Phi Chi Theta has been active in holding discussions on women's opportunities in business and commerce. Its members direct the ceramics sale held at the University every spring.

To be elected a woman student must be above the average in scholarship and show particular aptitude for work in the business field.

DELTA SIGMA PI, an international professional commerce and business administration fraternity, was installed at the University of North Dakota in 1925. It was founded at New York University in 1907.

The University chapter is active in bringing together business students for discussion of problems confronting business. This year the group sponsored a radio quiz program which answered specific questions dealing with business, banking and finance.

Delta Sigma Pi further increases the opportunity of its members by maintaining an employment service.

Each year the fraternity awards a gold scholarship key to the senior man in Commerce who, on graduation, ranks highest in scholarship for the course. The name of the winner is engraved on a wall plaque which hangs in the halls of the Law building.

ZETA PHI ETA, national honorary speech fraternity for women, was established at the University of North Dakota in 1926. Its purpose is to stimulate in women an interest in speech, dramatics, and the forensic arts, to encourage speech activities.

To achieve this end the North Dakota chapter has sponsored numerous speech and dramatic efforts on this campus. Each Friday evening members participate in a radio program broadcast over station KFJM called "Evening Reveries." The program consists of poetry and prose readings against a background of organ music.

Last winter interest in the group turned to marionette and puppet shows. Puppets were made and programs of professional caliber were sponsored by the club. Members of Zeta Phi Eta are also active in Playmakers and other campus forensic societies.

THE UNIVERSITY'S Student Chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers was established in 1924. The purpose of the society is to further knowledge pertaining to the mineral industries and to foster good fellowship and high ethical standards among those who have chosen mining or related fields for their life's work. Membership includes those students who are interested in mining, geology and associated fields.

THE TASK of assisting and aiding in the orientation of freshman women on this campus falls to the senior cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association through its Big Sister program. The chairman of that group and a greater number of the Big Sisters come from the YWCA membership.

Service is the watchword for the YWCA. Outstanding among this year's achievements was the organization of the Varsity Club, student night club. Plans for this activity were initiated from within the YW group.

Other activities include the sponsoring of convocations, the Kiddies party, and the direction of religious services and radio programs. The University YWCA members also assist the downtown YWCA by serving as advisers to girl reserve groups.

Each member of the senior cabinet serves at the head of some salient committee in the work. Mrs. Bertha Johnston is adviser.

PROVING GROUND for lower class women interested in Young Women's Christian association work is the YWCA Junior cabinet. Its membership is composed of freshman and sophomores.

Members work under the supervision and in conjunction with the senior YW group. For a part of the year members also serve as sub-chairmen on one of the senior committees.

The Junior cabinet is in charge of the vesper services, the Blue Monday teas, and its members serve on the cast of "Twilight Meditations," the YWCA program. Miss Doris Bergquist, vice president of the Senior cabinet, served as adviser to the junior group this year.

THE UNIVERSITY Young Men's Christian Association was organized in 1924. Since that time, through its membership, it has contributed much to the betterment of the lives of University students.

General christian and vocational guidance for men is initiated through the service of the YMCA. Each year it sponsors a series of vocational guidance lectures in which leading occupational leaders in the Grand Forks area discuss opportunities for work and advancement in their own particular fields with students.

The YMCA also brings to the campus many outstanding speakers. It works in conjunction with the YWCA on certain projects, among the most important this year being the formation of the Varsity Club.

It also maintains a lunch and recreation room for men in the basement of Budge hall.

TWENTY freshmen, chosen because of their interest and service on the campus, make up the YMCA Junior cabinet. The first cabinet was officially installed on the campus April 6, 1939.

The cabinet was co-sponsor of the first Freshman week held on the campus this spring. In addition, the group has laid plans to play a big part in the fall freshman orientation program.

Special speakers discuss problems with members at their regular meetings, at which the social as well as the business side of YMCA work is given consideration. The group is affiliated with the Peace council, and through this connection they work as part of the drive to secure aid for Chinese students.

EVERY woman student on the campus is a member of the Women's League. Governing body of the group is the Women's League board composed of one freshman, two sophomores, three juniors and four seniors. One member is elected from every class each year, and she holds her position throughout her collegiate career.

The Board sees to the organization of women in different campus projects. Notable among them is the Freshman-Sophomore banquet, to honor women elected to Sigma Epsilon Sigma, the Women's League ball, and the Senior-Junior banquet, held each spring, where honor societies announce women members and officers.

Other promotional activities for University betterment are sponsored and carried out by the group.

SOCIETY and fellowship among Lutheran students is the aim of the Lutheran Students Association. The group draws its membership from the largest religion preference group on the campus, and strives to build in that group a closer connection with the church.

Important in its drive to keep interest strong is the publication of the "Lutheran Student," a mimeographed paper which comes out periodically informing members as to what's what in club circles.

The association was organized in 1936 at the University. Faculty advisers are Dr. A. M. Rovelstad and Dr. C. L. Kjerstad. Meetings are held in the United Lutheran Church parlors.

PROMOTION of the religious and social interests of the Catholic students is the mission of the Newman Club. The organization was founded in 1906, and its membership includes all Catholic students on the campus.

In addition, the Newman foundation, for which the Reverend Father Dawson is adviser, maintains a campus residence on Hamline street. The group holds its meetings and some of its services in the parlors of this building. Also housed in the building is the Newman library of religious and other works maintained for members.

Social meetings of the University group are held in downtown Catholic churches. The group also publishes a news letter and sponsors an annual convocation.

HESPERIA, literary society for men, is made up of students whose interest lies in the field of debate and oratory. In order to be admitted to membership the student candidate is required to make an entrance speech.

High spots in the club's activities include the sponsoring of the Min Hin Li oratorical contest on "China," and the annual debate with A. D. T., rival campus literary society.

Each year former Governor George Shafer of North Dakota awards a $20. prize to the speaker who has shown most improvement in the year. Officers are elected for semester terms.

UNIQUE in its purpose and activities is the Arts and Crafts club, which seeks self expression for its members through the medium of the paint brush, palette, woodworking tools, and craft materials.

The club was organized in 1934. Since that time its name has been synonymous with its activities. Its membership is made of those students engaged in industrial arts, art, and ceramics.

Heading the club's roster are Paul E. Barr, art department head, A. V. Overn and Julia Mattson, other faculty members.

Athletic Department

AT THE HELM of the Nodak athletic ship is Athletic Director C. A. West. His is the job of active supervision of all phases of University athletic activity. His, also, is the job of moulding North Dakota football teams. A thorough and admirable job he does at both.

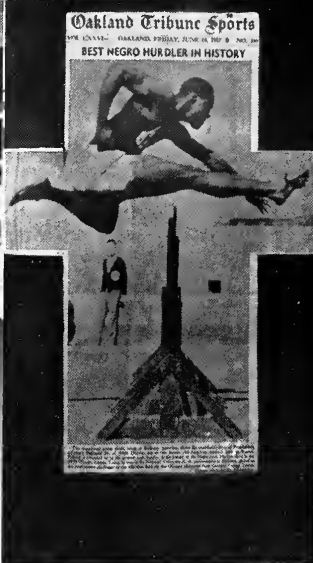

C. A. West, Director of Athletics

"C. A." graduated from Coe College, Iowa, where he was a star athlete. Football was his favorite sport, and he still lives for it. His coaching career started in a Mason City, Iowa, high school. His debut into the coaching field was an auspicious one, as his team established a national high school scoring record that year with a total of 534 points to their opponents' 7. The next year found him coaching the Shattuck Military Academy and once again he put out a tough team. After one year, he was head grid coach at South Dakota State college at Brookings, S. D. In his six years there, his Jackrabbit teams won three conference championships, an average of a championship every other year.

In 1928 he accepted the coaching job at the University. His tenth year as the Nodak coach was celebrated and recognized in the Homecoming activities this fall. Continuing his successful ways in conference football, begun at South Dakota State, West began grinding out conference champions at the University. In his 10 years here, "C. A." has produced seven champions.

Liked and appreciated by students, townspeople and his "coachees," West has indeed compiled an enviable record, and judging by that record, successful teams at UND will continue with West at the helm.

Cheerleaders Langer, Gilbertson, Lawrence, Baker, and Pep King Swendiman

Nodak Cheer Leaders

AN INTEGRAL PART of any Nodak football or basketball contest is the pep squad. An athletic contest without the cheer leaders would be flat ... like food without spice or flavoring. It is their job to see that there is plenty of noise out there ... that the crowd backs the team with all the power that their lungs possess.

Diminutive Bill Purvis, sophomore bundle of energy, was the Rooter King during the football season, and was succeeded by Betty Jane Swendiman, the first coed Pep King in many years. Members of the all-girl squad were Lydia Langer, Jean Baker, Marcella Gilbertson and Katherine Lawrence. Harold "Tiny" Sloven did some fine work the last half of the football season.

Working in conjunction with the Pep club, the cheer leaders have vastly improved school spirit this year. They have inaugurated several new yells, several of which may be permanent chants at UND. To try to get many vocal outbursts from crowds at Nodak athletic contests is a tough job in many instances, and the cheer leaders merit praise for their fine work the past year.

LARGELY through the efforts of the Rooter King, Betty Jane Swendiman, there was organized this fall an organization to promote the U. N. D. spirit at football and basketball games. Any student of the University was eligible for membership, and as plans materialized the membership became very large.

Besides adding much spirit to the games, the club has added color by wearing the sweaters which the members of the club purchased. Entertainment between halves is furnished by the club, under the direction of the five co-ed cheer leaders. New songs and yells have been learned to add something new to each game. The club moved down to Fargo en masse for the University and State College series. With the Pep club, directed by the seven council members, to work up the old spirit we expect bigger and better games.

Co-captain Jack West

The 1939

WHEN Coach C. A. West inaugurated his 10th season at the University last fall, the Nodaks were scheduled for anything but a successful season. The 1938 club was without the services of nine regulars from the previous year and many good reserves had also graduated from the ranks. But this was not to stop the fighting Sioux. From the opening whistle in September at Winnipeg to the final seconds of the Omaha game the Nodaks were truly a fine team.

The Sioux were paced by such outstanding conference performers as Fritz Pollard and co-captains Jack West and Chuck Gainor. All three of these boys were named on the all-conference team and it was Pollard's third successive year on it. Others receiving conference mention were "Lefty" Hallen, Norman Leafe, Bill Ordway, and Mike Brenkus.

This year's team averaged only 175 pounds from end to end and the backfield averaged only 178 pounds per man. Thus the Sioux took terrific beatings in their games. But week after week they came back for more and at the end of the season had piled up six wins against two losses, an enviable record for any college team.

The Blue Bombers of Winnipeg, a professional club, furnished the first opposition of the year for the Nodaks. The Bombers were without the services of several of their players but they never had a chance as the Sioux put on a wild running exhibition featuring Pollard, Brenkus, and White to win handily, 21-7.

For the first home game of the season the Sioux engaged the South Dakota Jackrabbits. It was a surprised home crowd that saw the Nodaks run roughshod over the Bunnies as they pleased to win, 37-0. A Nodak line that was outweighed 12 pounds per man put on the show of the evening as they opened large holes for the ballcarriers.

Pollard, UND's candidate for All-American honors, put on his best performance of the year against Morningside as he ran back punts and broke into the clear many times to thrill the crowd and finish the game with three touchdowns to his credit. Except for him, the Nodaks might have found themselves on the short end instead of winning, 27-12.

With a week's rest behind them, the Sioux tackled DePaul University in their first non-conference test of the season. Behind the superb blocking of Evan Lips, Len Senechal, and Hallen, the Nodaks again sent their ball carriers repeatedly across their opponents' goal line to finish on the long end of a 32-12 score. The Demons were strong in every department of play but the steadiness of the Sioux was the factor that accounted for the win.

In a homecoming game long to be remembered, the Sioux overcame their strong rivals from Montana, the Grizzlies, 7-0. Eleven men performed 60 minutes for the Sioux that Saturday afternoon and it was truly a great North Dakota team that pushed its way up and down the field to score once late in the third period and then hang on grimly to the end to make that touchdown a margin of victory.

Evan Lips, Captain-elect

With hopes of a perfect season and a conference championship in mind, the Nodaks traveled to Fargo to play in the AC's Homecoming. But the Sioux record did not frighten the Bison and the Nodaks were subdued for the first time, 17-13. With this game went the chances of a championship and also those of a perfect season. However, no discredit can be given the Sioux as the Bison rose to great heights and played championship ball for a day.

Riddled with injuries following three weeks of terrific battle, the team's confidence and morale were at a low ebb for their game with the Titans of Detroit. The Sioux put up a game battle but it was not their day and they finished behind a 38-7 score.

To put the finishing touches on a good season, the Nodaks returned to the conference and defeated Omaha university, 7-0. But the damage had been done and the Sioux finished the season second in the conference standings.

Varsity Squad

Every year seniors must graduate. Never again will UND fans witness the fine performances of such players as Pollard, Gainor, West, Ordway, Gehrke, Hallen, and Horace Johnson. They were all truly great in their department of the game and had much to do with the success of Nodak teams in the past few years.

The 1939 season will find Evan Lips at the helm as captain. Lips has been regular for two years and is considered the best blocker on the team. This young man from Bismarck is a consistent player and should prove a very capable leader next fall.

The 1939 Nodak aggregation will probably be the lightest team in history, at least as long as West has been coaching here. The loss of Pollard and Ordway in the backfield will be tough on the Sioux, but no worse than the loss of West, Gainor, Hallen and Gehrke in the line.

Bernard White and Jay Allen, promising sophomores, will probably be the replacements at left halfback and fullback. Al Dragge will probably replace Gainor at left end; Ed Rossmiller, star freshman tackle, will take Gehrke's place; Ed Rupp is a good bet to replace Hallen at guard; and either Freshman Bud Monnes, Reserve Jim Eide or Captain Evan Lips will be playing the center position.

Cliff Worner and Chet Snyder, two experienced blocking backs, will be back in school, and so Lips may be switched to center, his old position, or to left halfback, where his hard running will come in handy. Other reserves who will help are Jacobson, Richards, Sand, Lynch, Les Johnson, Don and Guy Campbell, Setterlund, Chatfield and Swenson.

Many freshmen looked good in spring grid practice. Backfield men who may go places in varsity football are Dobler, Styles, Caldis and Hausauer. Outstanding frosh line prospects are Rossmiller, Emanuel, Paul, Michaelson, Shafer, Monnes and Murray. Coach West will need all the able replacements he can get, because next year's schedule looks to be just as tough a road as the 1938 season.

scorers, finished in a tie for second place to uphold the Letich precedent. Letich, possessor of a friendly personality, has become a familiar and beloved character to North Dakota students and alums. In basketball the Sioux owe their greatness to one factor—Clem Letich.

SINCE coming to the University as head basketball coach in 1925, Clem Letich, "Silent Clem" to his Nodak followers, has formed the habit of producing teams that never finish below a second place tie in conference competition. The past 14 years have seen Clem's Sioux quints come forward with five undisputed league championships and nine runner-up trophies.

Aside from his basketball duties, Letich coaches the track and golf teams and serves as assistant football mentor. His records in all four sports have marked him as one of the outstanding coaches in the North Central conference. Year after year he has consistently produced winners in all the sports he heads. His 1938-39 basketball team, after suffering a number of early season defeats and despite the loss of its two leading

THOSE game and fighting Sioux, ignored by many, and backed by only a few of the pre-season predictors as a possible conference title contender, again landed in second place, sharing the honors with Iowa State Teachers.

At the start of the cage season, Coach Clem Letich was confronted with the perplexing problem of finding replacements for Donn Robertson, Harold Lemaire and Vern Kittleson, all regulars on the 1937-38 outfit. However, with a nucleus of co-captains Bill McCosh and Donn Pepke, Letich moulded a team that was good enough for a second place tie in the evenly matched North Central loop. Pete Burich and Chuck Nelson were fitted into the front line with all-conference McCosh, and the veteran Pepke paired up with sophomore Bernie White at guard to round out a scrappy, hard driving team.

Reserves Orran Homme and Jim Eide took over first string berths when appendicitis operations forced McCosh and Burich out of the lineup.

Highlight of the season was, of course, the annual Sioux-Bison series which saw the Nodaks take the first three straight over the downstaters. North Dakota State came back the last game to win over the Sioux, 38 to 31.

McCosh and Pepke are the only cagers graduating this spring and their absence will be keenly felt next year when the Nodaks prepare for their 1939-40 hardwood campaign. With eight experienced men along with a wealth of material from the freshman squad available, North Dakota will likely be in the thick of the conference scramble again next season.

Track and Field

1938 Squad

Fritz Pollard, Philip Kjelmlyr, Vern Kittleson, Horace Johnson, Nodak track stars

ALTHOUGH Paul Stratte, crack quarter-miler and captain of the 1938 track squad, didn't compete because of heavy scholastic duties and Fritz Pollard, who was conceded high hurdle victories because of his performance on the 1936 Olympic team, wasn't in school, the North Dakota track team won the conference meet for the second successive year.

Winning of the conference and state intercollegiate titles was probably due to the efforts of Horace Johnson, perennial winner in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Johnson, Kjelmlyr and Kittleson taking first, second and third places in the 100 and 220 in the conference meet aided materially in the Sioux winning the title.

Although the team was small, those men who were on the squad were almost certain point-getters in conference and state competition. Johnson, Kjelmlyr, Kittleson and Sexton, the half-mile relay team, were responsible for most of the Nodak points. Phillips, who placed second in the conference two-mile; Tauer, a pole vaulter; Glascock, a half-miler; and Banning, quarter-miler, rounded out the point-getters.

Minor Sports

Glenn Jarrett, assistant coach

Fresh Football

WHEN last year's assistant coach, the jovial Arvo Antilla, resigned to accept a position as head coach of the Whiting, Indiana, high school, Glen "Red" Jarrett got his chance to return to his alma mater. Leaving his job as football coach at Minot high school, where for several years his teams had dominated North Dakota prep football, Jarrett took over his duties as assistant football coach, freshman basketball coach and intramural athletic director here at UND last fall.

Jarrett's name is near the top of those in the North Dakota athletic Hall of Fame. The fleet half-back of 1929, '30 and '31 will long be remembered for his gridiron deeds, and now he is out to emulate his success in the field with equal success on the sidelines. Possessor of a likable personality, Jarrett is off to a good start in his coaching career.

The Sioux frosh gridders, under the guidance of Clem Letich, freshman football coach, improved greatly during the season. Opening the season on September 29, the Sioux yearlings held the Virginia, Minn., Teachers college to a scoreless tie. Next the baby Bison invaded the Sioux camp and upset the dope as they defeated the Nodak frosh, 12-6. In a return game, the Nodak freshmen went to Fargo and once again were beaten by one touchdown, 6-0. Although handicapped by injuries, the Papooses were threatening all the way. Particularly promising grid men turned out were: Bud Monnes at center, Walt Dobler and Gordon Caldis, a pair of halfbacks; Reinhold Zwicker and Roger Emanuel at guards, Ed Rossmiller at tackle and Garvin Murray at end.

Freshman Basketball

GLEN "RED" JARRETT, former Sioux athletic great, now assistant coach, tutored the freshman basketeers throughout the season. Starting out with approximately 80 aspirants, "Red" pared the squad down to 10 members: The Baby Sioux got off to a heartbreaking start by dropping their first two games; both with Mayville Teachers College. These losses were by narrow margins however, the first one by one basket—25-23, and the second by an edge of 30-25. The pea-greeners then handed the powerful Grand Forks high school Maroons a 28-19 defeat to win back their confidence. On February 24 the Nodaks tackled the Bison Frosh on the Armory floor, but lost the battle 33-36 in an overtime "sudden death" decision. With traditional determination, the Sioux Yearlings tramped down to Fargo on March 3 to change the tone of things by beating the Bison Frosh 40-38 in another overtime game. Sioux stellar cage men included Fred Gran and Lewis "Bud" Beale, forwards; Bud Monnes and Bob Peterson, guards; and Ordean Olson, center. The second team had Bruce Stevenson at center; Gordon Caldis and LeRoy Hausauer at forwards; and Ken Lutgen and Walt Dobler at the guard positions. Most of these boys bear all-state labels, and many of them are expected to find places on the varsity squad next year.

Intramural Board

COACH GLENN "RED" JARRETT, in replacing Arvo Antilla, also stepped into the directorship of intramural athletics and head of the Intramural Board of Control. On this board are Bill McCosh, chairman, George Vaughan, Sig Swenson, who was elected a year ago, and Carl Simensen, who replaced Bob Stevenson in February.

This board was established in the spring of 1936, and has charge of arranging schedules, drawing up rules and regulations for the eligibility, registration, and conduct of players, and deciding disputes between members of the league. As a new situation arises, new rules are put into effect which will now meet almost any question that is brought before them.

Organized by the Interfraternity council, the members have staggered terms of two years, one member retiring each semester, and new members are elected by the Council. The board is now indispensable to the intramural program, and never before have the sports on the campus been under such good control.

THIS YEAR'S University wrestling team had experienced men but no opponents. Student Coach John Goodman had no luck in arranging matches with conference foes or outside schools so the wrestlers had to be content with intersquad matches. Other standout grapplers were Horald Peterson, Don Brinkley and Chuck Frissell, a transfer from Minnesota. Wrestling is expected to pick up next year and several veterans will be back.

Last spring, the University golf team won the state collegiate championship in the tournament here. Representing the Nodaks were Al Rindy, Sonny Lemaire, Ralph Asleson and Paul Stratte. Rindy won the state singles crown. On the southern trip, Orv Bergren and Norman Wahl replaced Stratte and Asleson and despite playing good golf, the team lost close decisions to Carleton and St. Olaf. The Nodaks had three 75's and a 72 but still finished behind the Carls. Lemaire was the only man lost by graduation and prospects for the 1939 team are good.

Handicapped by a late spring and wet courts, the UND tennis team played only one match last year, defeating Jamestown college, 3-2. John Bonzer, Ralph Bekken, Bob Kling and Bob Kennedy composed the team. Bonzer was the only man lost by graduation, and Coach Felix Vondracek looks for a good season, with Vern Olson, Leo Greenberg, Phil Doak and Bill James up from the freshman team.

Boxing

THE University boxing team finished its second year as a student-coached, student-managed unit this season. Cully Ekstrom and Carlyle Loverud, veteran Sioux fighters, teamed to coach the squad and Louis Eschenberg handled all managerial duties, including the scheduling of six matches during the season. The Sioux split with a team of Winnipeg, Manitoba, amateurs, losing the first match at Winnipeg, 5-3, and winning the second at Grand Forks, 4-2.

A group of Devils Lake amateurs also lost to the University mittmen in a match held at the Lake city, while the University of Idaho defeated the Sioux at Moscow, as did the State School of Science at Wahpeton and the Superior State Teachers at Superior, Wisconsin.

Ekstrom again went to the National Intercollegiate tournament in an attempt to regain the featherweight crown he held in 1936, but was decisioned in the finals by Idaho's Ted Kara, who captained the 1936 United States Olympic boxing team.

Besides Ekstrom, Loverud and Eschenberg, the squad included Co-captains Gordy Lee and Roy Christianson, Fred Montgomery, John Holodnik and Vern Johnson.

Della Marie Clark

MISS DELLA MARIE CLARK with her assistants, Miss Phyllis Jack and Miss Maxine Munt, direct all coeds specializing in physical education in an athletic program of four major and eleven minor sports.

Major sports are soccer, volleyball, basketball and kittenball, and the minor events are pingpong, archery, golf, tennis, horseshoe, track, badminton, hiking, shuffle board, roller and ice skating and baseball. Dancing is also included. The Women's Athletic Association awards point toward membership into the association or an athletic sweater award for participation in these sports.

Fifty points are required for pledging into W. A. A. and 100 points are necessary for initiation.

The freshmen successfully defended their winning reputation by taking first honors in both the year's basketball and volleyball class tournaments. Davis Hall girls came to the front in the intramural volleyball tournament, while Delta Zeta sorority won the intramural basketball tournament.

Top athletic awards for 1938-39 went to Gladys Arveson as senior high point winner and most athletic coed, and to Anita Roisum who won the apparatus trophy.

KEYWORD to fun for University coeds is the W. A. A. The three letters stand for Women's Athletic Association, which offers a long list of major and minor sports. They are soccer, volleyball, basketball, kittenball, golf, tennis, pingpong, archery, horseshoe, track, hiking, badminton, baseball, shuffle board, and roller and ice skating.

For those bent toward the artistic, there is Orchesis (dance club) which has gone wholly modern this year under the supervision of a new dance instructor, Miss Maxine Munt. The group presented a modern dance demonstration in February and climaxed their work with a finished recital the last of May.

The Women's Athletic Association has entered with spirit into campus activities from which it has gained high recognition. Listed to its credit are the Freshmen welcome party in the fall, intramural volleyball and basketball tournaments, a mixed intramural volleyball tournament, a play day for high schools in the spring, and an annual awards banquet in May.

The dancing class is doing a bit of interpretative dancing.

Badminton and pingpong are favorite sports in the Women's Gym.

Limber up, girls, before the work begins.

Acknowledgments

KNOWING that without the generous cooperation and support of those who have contributed to the 1939 Dacotah many things would not have been possible, we take this opportunity to thank those particular people for what they have done for us and the 1939 yearbook:

THE PAGE PRINTING COMPANY for their kind cooperation and helpfulness in making the 1939 book what it is. Especially do we thank Mr. C. Dyke Page, Adam Seller, Adrian Lowe, and Fred Lang, binder of the book.

THE BUREAU OF ENGRAVING, Minneapolis, for their excellent engravings used in this book, and especially Mr. Art Segal, Bureau representative, for his help in working out the plan for this year's book.

MELVIN RUDER, who has so kindly given us access to the greater number of candid pictures used in all sections of this year's book, and who is also responsible for the excellent photography in the Who's Who section, and many of the scenic shots.

S. K. SMITH CO. who made the covers for the 1939 Dacotah in accordance with our plans.

COOPER, LEE and HOFF STUDIOS for their close cooperation in obtaining individual and group pictures; especially Mr. Sam Cooper, who has done a big part of the commercial photography for the 1939 Dacotah.

KENNETH SCHLASINGER, ANDERS SWEETLAND, AL COOLEY for pictures used throughout the book; the Grand Forks Herald for additional sports pictures, as well as those people who contributed campus shots in the annual contest.

THE STAFFS of the 1939 Dacotah who have stood by through a year dotted with troubles and pleasure, always doing their job enthusiastically and efficiently.

PATRONS of this year's book, who are so necessary for the success of any yearbook, for their exceptional cooperation.

Another Dacotah has left the presses; one more staff has had the opportunity to work in close association with one another toward a common end; an editor and business manager have had a great experience—your 1939 Dacotah.
